ABSTRACT

THE INFLUENCE OF QUESTIONING THE AUTHOR (QtA) STRATEGY TOWARD STUDENTS’ READING COMPREHENSION IN RECOUNT TEXT AT THE EIGHTH GRADE OF SMP KEMALA BHAYANGKARI KOTABUMI IN THE ACADEMIC YEAR OF 2016/2017

By Tria Erviani

Reading is one of language skills that should be mastered by the students. In reading the text, readers can find the knowledge and get information from printed text. The students’ reading comprehension of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi is still low especially in reading recount text. It can be seen from the students’ reading score in preliminary research. There were 61.25% of the students who got the score under 70 as the criteria of minimum mastery. To solve the problem, the researcher applied QtA strategy. QtA is one way to help students comprehend the text because they working together in the group. The objective of this research was to know whether there is a significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy toward students’ reading comprehension in recount text at the second semester of the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi in the academic year of 2016/2017.

The research methodology was quasi experimental design. In this research, the population was the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi. The sample of this research was two classes consisting of 27 students for experimental class and 26 students for control class. In the experimental class, the researcher used Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy and in the control class the teacher used SQ3R. The treatments were held in 3 meetings in which 2 x 40 minutes for each class. In collecting the data, the researcher used instrument in the form of multiple choice questions which had been tried out before the treatments. The instrument was given in pre-test and post-test. Before giving the treatment, the writer gave pre-test for both classes. Then, after conducting the treatments, the instrument was given in post-test. After giving pre-test and post-test, the researcher analyzed the data using SPSS to compute independent sample t-test.

From the data analysis computed by using SPSS, it was obtained that $\text{Sig.} = 0.000$ and $\alpha = 0.05$. It means $H_a$ is accepted because $\text{Sig.} < \alpha = 0.000 < 0.05$. Therefore, there is a significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text at the second semester of the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi.

CHAPTER I
INTRODUCTION

A. Background of the Problem

Reading is an activity of readers to read a text and get information from what they read. Reading is a valuable activity to do. By reading, readers will get a large amount of new knowledge. There are no certain rules to choose tasks to read and the way how to read them. According to Grabe, there are many ways that people engage in reading and different reading tasks call for distinct combinations in component skills.”¹

According to Patel and Jain, reading is most useful and important skill for people.² It means that reading is an important skill that should be mastered besides listening, writing, and speaking. By reading, the reader will be able to increase their knowledge, get the information and also can get new knowledge.

However, as a good reader, we have to prove that there will be something taken by our reading activity. It means that we understand the tasks well. According to Harmer, reading is useful for language acquisition. Provided that students more or less understand what they read, more they read, the better they get at it.\footnote{Jeremy Harmer, \textit{How to Teach English} (Britain: Pearson Longman, 2007), p.99} Everyone can be said as a good reader if he/she is able to comprehend what he/she is reading. This is such an active reading.

Eventually, the one which burdens us while reading is we still find out difficulties to get the reading point itself. Most students still have low ability in comprehending reading text. Meanwhile, students are one of classroom components that take an important part in teaching learning process. Mostly the objective of the lesson is to make students able to understand or produce something. It is hoped that students should be independent and active in learning so they can be able to receive knowledge given in the lesson and the objective of the lesson can be reached.

Most school students feel confused when they face a reading text. It may because they have not known a good way in comprehending English texts. The other reason is it may the teacher doesn’t use or hasn’t used an exact strategy, technique or method in teaching reading comprehension. According to Wallace, reading plays a key role in almost every course of study. He also states yet many students do their reading in an unfocused way.\footnote{Michael J. Wallace, \textit{Study Skills in English Second Edition}, (Cambridge University Press: United Kingdom, 2004), p.9.} It can be elaborated that it is very important for both students and teachers to know the best way in comprehending English texts.
Whereas, students’ independency and effort in English lesson are needed to develop their understanding and creativity, especially in English reading lesson. In other words, the reader needs to be an active reader to comprehend text they have read. When students are not independent and active in English reading lesson, they can be called as reluctant readers. Reluctant readers need more support from the teacher before they can participate in any kind of independent reading time successfully.

Based on the preliminary research in SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi, the researcher conducted an interview with one of the English teachers there, Ms. Maryana. She said that the students there had low ability in almost every English skill. They felt difficult to comprehend, get the meaning of the text, and express their idea in discussion. It could be seen from students’ English score in reading test especially in recount text. The score can be seen in the table below:

Based on the table above, there were 31 students of the 80 students who passed the test based on criteria of minimum mastery (KKM) and 49 students failed. In this case, the students’ score of KKM in SMP Kemala Bhayangkari was 75 and there were many students who got the score under 75. It was found that the total number of students who got difficulty in reading was 49. It meant that students who got difficulty in reading were 61, 25%. Here the teacher used SQ3R in teaching the students reading comprehension. It made students wasting their time to open their dictionary every time.⁵

Furthermore, the researcher also interviewed some students that contain about reading English text especially recount text in their English lesson.⁶ Most of them answered that they found it difficult because they did not understand the texts so they could not answer the questions well. They also answered that they bored when the teacher taught them in the classroom.

Seeing the problem, the researcher would like to help teacher to find out a good way to teach reading with good comprehension in order that the objective of the lesson. In addition, there will be a creative and an active teaching and learning process on the classroom.

⁵ Maryana, S.Pd, English Teacher of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi, January 2016
⁶ Nanang, Imam, Bella, et.al The Students at the VIII B Grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari. Tuesday January, 5th 2016.
Here the researcher used strategy to help students comprehend English text called Questioning the Author (QtA). According to Housel, Questioning the Author is a strategy which help students take an active, questioning attitude toward text. By using the Questioning the Author Strategy in teaching reading, it can make the students easy in comprehending the text.\textsuperscript{7} McLaughlin and Allen states, that Questioning the Author is a strategy where a text-based instructional format that helps students build a deeper understanding of text by learning to query the author.\textsuperscript{8}

From the explanation above, the researcher used Questioning the Author strategy as a reading strategy to help students comprehend in English text especially in recount text. Therefore, the researcher interested in conducting a research entitled “The Influence of Questioning the Author (QtA) Strategy toward Students’ Reading Comprehension of Recount Text at the Eighth Grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari in 2016 / 2017 Academic Year”.

B. Identification of the Problem

Based on the background of the problem above, the researcher identified the problems as follows:

1. The students had difficulties to comprehend the text, to get the meaning, to express their idea in discussion.

2. The students were bored learning process.

3. The teacher need another strategy in the classroom to interest students in learning process.

C. Limitation of the Problem

The researcher limits the problems in this research by focusing only on the influence of Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension of recount text.

D. Formulation of the Problem

Based on the limitation of the problem above, the researcher formulated the problem as follows: Is there a significant influence of questioning the author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension of recount text?

E. Objective of the Research

The objective of the research was to know whether there is a significant influence of Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy on students’ reading comprehension of recount text.

F. Use of the Research

The uses of this research are expected to give the theoretical and practical contribution.
1. For theoretical contribution, the uses of this research are expected to give information to the English teacher of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi about the influence of using QtA strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text.

2. For practical contribution, the uses of this research are expected to give motivation for the students in learning English especially in reading recount text.

G. Scope of the Research

1. Subject of the research

The subject of the research was the students at the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi.

2. Object of the research

The objects of the research were the use of QtA Strategy and students’ reading comprehension.

3. Place of the research

The research was conducted at SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi.

4. Time of the research

The research was conducted at the second semester in the academic year of 2016/2017.
CHAPTER II
FRAME OF THEORIES, FRAME OF THINKING AND HYPOTHESIS

A. Frame of Theories

1. Concept of Teaching English as a Foreign Language

Language is very important to communicate in society. Language is made up of sounds, words and sentence. Brown states, “Language is more than a system or communication. It involves whole person, culture, educational, developmental communicative process”.¹ It means language is measured as a means of communication and it is difficult to do all activities without language.

English is spoken all over the world. It means that a lot of countries in the world communicate among them by using English as an international language. English is spoken as a first language by the majority populations of several sovereign states, including the United Kingdom, the United States, Canada, Australia, Ireland, New Zealand and a number of Caribbean nations. It is the third most common native language in the world, after Mandarin Chinese and Spanish. It is widely learned as a second language and is an official language of the European Union, many Commonwealth countries and the United Nations, as well as many world organizations.

In Indonesia, English is the first foreign language taught at all of level. Starting from elementary school up to university, because English language not used in daily by society but accuracy really focus in learning English. English just is taught in schools, but it does not play an essential role in social life. But the students of elementary school learning English at the local content, while the students of junior high school up to university learn English is compulsory subject. A foreign language is a language studied in an environment where it is not the primary vehicle for daily interaction and where input in that language restricted.

Harmer says, “English as a foreign language is generally taken to apply the students who one studying general English at the schools and institutes in their own country or as transitory visitors as a target language country”.\(^2\) It means that the purpose of teaching English as the first foreign language is to create a situation that the students can use English as a means of communication. The students should be put into situation that they can use English for communication both oral and written.

2. Concept of Teaching Reading

Teaching is a process of transferring knowledge. Teaching reading is not only teaching to read, but more of it. Comprehending the text is one of the reading’s goals. Teaching reading can be main as facilitate students performance this in comprehending texts, and provide students with many opportunities for practice are encouraged in a number of comprehension enhancing the best known of which are reciprocal teaching, cooperative learning and reading recovery. During teaching reading process we must pay attention about the principle of teaching reading.

The principle can be standard to limit teachers when they teach reading. The principles of teaching reading are stated below:

1. Reading is not passive skill
2. Students need to be engaged with what they are reading
3. Students should be encouraged to respond to the content of a reading text, not only to the language
4. Prediction is major factor in reading
5. Match the task to the topic
6. Good teachers exploit reading texts to the full.\(^3\)

William states that there are three activities involved in reading activity namely the pre, while and post reading activities:

a. Pre-Reading

The teacher spends some time introducing a topic, encouraging skimming, scanning, predicting, and activating schemata so that students can bring the best of their knowledge and skills to a text when they have been given a chance to “ease into” the passage.

The aims of free reading activities are:

1. To introduce and arouse interest in the topic,
2. To motivate learners by giving a reason for reading,
3. To provide some language preparation for the text.

b. While-Reading

Not all reading is simply extensive or global reading. There may be certain facts or rhetorical devices that students should take note of while they read. Give students a sense of purpose for reading rather than just reading because you order it.

According to William the purpose of this phase they are:

1. To help understanding of the text structure
2. To help understanding of the researcher’s purpose
3. To clarify text content

In while-reading there is other type work, the comprehension exercise at the end of passage is one of the typical reading activities. At the pre text questions which are given to the students they might be asked to find the answer to the question interested within the passage; completing diagram, making list, taking notes. While-reading activity is begin with a global understanding of the text and then more to smaller unties a paragraph-sentences, and words, the reason for this, that the larger the unites provide a context for understanding the smaller units.

c. Post-Reading

The purposes of post-reading are as follows;

1. To consolidate of reflect what has been read
2. To relate the text to the learners own knowledge, interest or views.

Post-reading activity include reaction to the passage and to while reading activity, example; the students say whether they like the text and find it useful or not.

Based on those explanations, the researcher can conclude that the teaching reading is not only teaching to read, but more of it. Comprehending the text is one of the reading’s goals. Teaching reading can be divided into three stages, namely the pre-reading, the while-reading and the post-reading. In each stage a certain amount of activities can be applied.

3. Concept of Reading

a. Definition of Reading

Reading is useful for language acquisition. Provide that students more or less understand what they read, the more they read, the netter they get at it. Reading also has a positive effect on students’ vocabulary knowledge, on their spelling and on their writing. The receptive written language skill is called reading. It is the skill of the reader or a group reader to interpret information transferred by a writer.

Reading is an active process which consists of recognition and recognition and comprehension skill. Reading is an important activity in life with which one can update his/her knowledge. Reading skill is an important tool for academic success. Reading is something many of us take for granted, According to William, reading is the process of receiving and interpreting information encoded in language form via the medium of print.

Based on the explanation above, the researcher concludes that reading is process understanding about what is the authors write by using literary words or idiom words and the reader know what is the meaning of the text and purpose of story the authors write. By reading, the reader will know what they read and challenged to response the ideas of the author. In other to make the message or information that comes from the author can be understood and comprehended easily by the teacher.

b. Concept of Reading Comprehension

Karen states, reading comprehension is the process of constructing meaning by coordinating a number of complex processes that include word reading, word and world knowledge, and fluency. It means that reading comprehension is ability to interpret the meaning from the text. In other definition, reading comprehension is a major pillar in the activity of reading in which readers build an understanding of a text.

According to Brown, reading comprehension is primarily a matter of developing appropriate, efficient comprehension strategies. Based on language assessment theory by Brown, especially in reading, these are some criteria that are commonly used in measuring students’ reading comprehension ability. They are:

1) Main idea (topic)
2) Expression / idioms / phrases in context
3) Inference (implied detail)
4) Grammatical features
5) Detail (scanning for a specifically stated detail)
6) Excluding facts not written (unstated details)
7) Supporting ideas

10 Kasihani K. E. Suyato, English for Young Learner, (Bandung: Bumi Aksara, 2010), p. 65
8) Vocabulary in context.\textsuperscript{12}

Based on the definition above, it can be inferred that reading comprehension is a process to understand meaning of and the get the message from the passage. Indicated of achievement of the eighth of comprehension including main idea (topic), expression / idioms / phrase in context, inference, grammatical features, detail (scanning for a specifically stated detail), excluding facts not written, supporting ideas and vocabulary in context.

4. Concept of Genre Text

a. Definition of Text

Text is a unit of meaning which is coherence and appropriate or its context. It can be spoken or written but mostly people think that text is only in written form. According to Siahaan, text is meaningful linguistic unit which can be a word, or sentence, or a paragraph, or even the one which is bigger than a paragraph.\textsuperscript{13} On the other hand, Feez and Joyce said that “Text is any stretch of language which held together cohesively through meaning”\textsuperscript{14} It means that when we use language to write, we are creating and constructing a text.

\textsuperscript{12} H.D. Brown, \textit{Teaching by Principles, An Interactive Approach to Language Pedagogy}, (San Fransisco State University, 1998), p. 206

\textsuperscript{14} Susan Feez and Helen Joyce, \textit{Text-Based Syllabus Design}, (Sidney: Macquarie University, 2002), p. 4.
When we read, we are interpreting text. Moreover, when we talk and listen, we are also creating and interpreting text. Further, language is always produced, and organized as cohesive units we call texts. It means that text is a communication by the writer with organized the structure of the text and grammatical of words, clauses and sentences.

Based on the explanation above, it can be concluded that text is a meaningful linguistic unit that has structure in each kinds of the text as the function to communicate with the reader.

b. Kinds of Text

There are many kinds of the text that must be taught to give knowledge for the students. Based on generic structure and language feature dominantly used in, texts are divided into several types. Gerot and Wignel classify the genre into thirteen types. They are;

1. Spoof

   Spoof is a text to retell an event with a humorous twist.

2. Recount

   Recount is a text to retell events for the purpose of informing or entertaining.

3. Report

   Report is a text to describe the way things are with reference to a range of natural, made and social phenomena in our environment.

4. Analytical Exposition

   Analytical exposition is a text to persuade the reader or listener that something in the case.

5. News Item

   News item is a text to inform readers, listeners or viewers about events of the day which are considered newsworthy or important.

6. Anecdote

   Anecdote is a text to share with others an account of an unusual or amusing incident.

7. Narrative

   Narrative is a text to amuse, entertain and to deal with actual or vicarious experience in different ways.

8. Procedure

   Procedure is a text to describe how something is accomplished through a sequence of actions or steps.

9. Description

   Description text is a text to describe a particular person, place or thing.
10. Hortatory Exposition

Hortatory exposition text is a text to persuade the reader or listener that something should or should not be the case.

11. Explanation

Explanation text is a text to explain the processes involved in the formation or workings of natural or socio cultural phenomena.

12. Discussion

Discussion text is a text to present (at least) two points of view about an issue.

13. Reviews

Reviews is a text to critique an art work or event for a public audience.16

Based on those explanations, the researcher concluded, there are many kinds of texts, each of characteristics have different characteristics and purpose. To find the common characteristics in text, we first compare text-type in terms of social purpose, and the structure and language feature which achieve that purpose. Sets of text-type which have similar purposes, and therefore use similar structures and language feature, can be categorized into families.

5. Concept of Recount Text

a. Definition of Recount Text

There are some kinds of text. One of them is recount text. Recount is a piece of text that retells past events, usually in order in which they happened.¹⁷ The purpose of a recount is to tell what happened in the past accordance with the order of time either to inform or to entertain the reader, and recount text using the past tense.¹⁸ According to Siahaan and Shinoda that recount is written out to make a report about an experience of a series of related event. Recount text is also is written out to inform am events or to entertain people.¹⁹

It can be concluded that recount text is one of kind of text that tell about past events, like experience. Whose purpose is to give information of the event and to entertain the readers.

b. Type of Recount Text

Referring to Emilia, recount text has several types as follows:

1. Personal Recount

   Personal recount is retelling an event that writer has been personally involved.

2. Factual Recount

   Factual recount is concerned with recalling events accurately.

3. Imaginative Recount

Imaginative recount is a recount that talking on an imaginary role to entertain the reader by creating the events.

4. Procedural Recount

Procedural recount is retells the steps taken in completing a task or procedure in the past. ²⁰

In conclusion, there are four types of recount text including personal recount, factual recount, imaginative recount, and the last one procedural recount. In this research, the researcher used personal recount as the example.

c. Generic Structure of Recount Text

Recount text consist of three parts, (orientation, events, reorientation), and language features in recount text. And those will be described as a follows:

1. Orientation

Orientation is introducing the participants, who involved in the story, where and when the story happened in the story. It orients the reader to the events that follow which introduce character in a setting of the time or the place.

2. Events

Event is the main important activities or events that occurred in the story of the text. The function of events is to give sequence of event. It presents the events chronological (in order which they happened).

²⁰ Emi Emilia, Pendekatan Genre-Based dalam Pengajaran Bahasa Inggris; Petunjuk untuk Guru, (Bandung: Rizqi, 2011), p. 8
3. Re-orientation

Re-orientation is optional. It returns the reader to the point of departure or sometimes the writers give comments on the whole sequence of events described.

Some recounts have an evaluate comment or a conclusion which may constitute the writers comment on event described previously, but this is just optional. The conclusion is the last paragraph, and because this part is optional, some recount may not have this conclusion paragraph.

Based on the explanation above, it can be concluded that there are three parts generic structure of recount text. Those are orientation, events and reorientation.

d. Language Features in Recount Text

According Gerot and Wignell, the language features of recount text are as follows:

1) Introducing personal participant ; I, my group, etc.

2) Using chronological connection ; first, then, next, etc.

3) Using linking verb ; was, were, saw, heard, etc.

4) Using action verb ; walked, Shopping, go, change, etc.

5) Using simple past tense ; (S + V2) , saw, went, etc.

21 Emi emilia, Teaching Writing: Developing Critical Learners, (Bandung: Rizqi, 2010), p.107
This following is the example of recount text

Last Saturday I woke up early, but I didn’t get up because there was no school. Suddenly, my telephone was rung. It was my friend Fanny, she asked me to go out at 10.00 o clock. She wanted to buy something in traditional market.

Finally, we were out. In the street, I saw a piece of pink coupon. Interested with its colour, I took it, then Fanny and I read this out. We were fully shocked, it was a receipt of a four nights tour to Lombok !! The expired date was that day. To our surprised, the name was Fanny Fenita and the birth date was exactly the same like Fanny my friend, and it was also valid for two persons. My God!! We were thinking that maybe the coupon just fell from the sky and it was there for us.

We were in hurried to the address of the tour agency that issued the coupon. The tour agency took care of everything. We went home and still could not believe what was going on. Two days later we were on the Senggigi Beach, lied in the warmth sun. Moreover, we had long public holiday, so we could enjoy the “gift” happily. We also bought some presents for our family and friends.

(taken from : English in Focus for Grade VIII)

From the example above, it can be seen that the first paragraph of recount text is orientation, the second paragraph is event and the third paragraph is re-orientation.
6. Concept of Reading Comprehension in Recount Text

According to Suyanto, reading comprehension is a complex intellectual process involving a number of abilities. Reading comprehension is a major pillar in the activity of reading in which readers build an understanding of a text.\(^23\)

One type of a text is recount text. Recount text is a piece of text that retells past events, which is usually told in order in which they happened.\(^24\) It can be inferred that recount text tells about the events or experiences in the past to give information or share each other reader in the written form.

Referring to Brown, there are some criteria that commonly used in measuring students reading comprehension ability. Those are: main idea (topic), expression / idioms / phrases in context, inference, grammatical features, detail (scanning for specifically stated detail), excluding fact not written (unstated detail), supporting idea, and vocabulary in context.\(^25\)

From the statements above the researcher concluded that recount text reading comprehension is an activity to understand the meaning of a text that tells about their past experience which fulfills the criteria of a good comprehension. Including main idea, expression/ idioms/ phrases in context, inference, grammatical features, detail, supporting idea and vocabulary in context.

7. Concept of Questioning the Author

a. Definition of Questioning the Author (QtA) Strategy

Many strategies can be applied in teaching reading for students. One of them is Questioning the Author (QtA). Questioning the Author is a strategy that gets students in the habit of thinking about what the author is saying beyond the words that actually appears in the text. The strategy requires students to consider the author’s intent.26

Beck and her associates in Buehl defines that Questioning the Author Strategy is an especially powerful strategy to help students adopt an inquiring orientation the text. It means Questioning the Author strategy focus on a series of questions that one might naturally pose about any message students might receives, in any form.27 Graves et al. states in Lisa Rahayu’s journal, the aim of Questioning the Author is students learn to build meaning from text as they read it, not after they finish their reading.28

Based on the explanations of some experts above, it can be concluded that the Questioning the Author Strategy is a strategy that can build comprehension from the

27 Dough Buehl, Classroom for Interactive Learning, (Tulsa: The Internasional Reading Association, Inc.2009), p.137
28 Lisa Rahayu, “The Use of QtA (Questioning the Author) in Teaching Reading Comprehension to Senior High School Students”. JELT, Vol. 2 Num. 3 Serie A (June 2014), p. 4 text by giving the queries in questioning the author as the students’ discussion moves in recount text.

b. Advantages of Questioning the Author Strategy

Hacker at all states in Foni Vionita’s journal, that there are some advantages and disadvantages from Questioning the Author Strategy, they are;

1) Students improved in monitoring, it means that the students are able to handle themselves to routines applied.
2) Both monitoring and comprehension increased so, make the students can increase the amount and quality of open sustained discussion of reading content.\(^{29}\)
3) Students are less likely to be frustrated by difficult text as they realize that part of the responsibility for passage making sense belongs to the author. Students become deeply understanding the text.
4) Questioning the author discussion is valuable as a comprehension building strategy for struggling readers.

c. Disadvantages of Questioning the Author Strategy

Disadvantages of Questioning the Author strategy are:

1) This strategy of learning this one allows the learners are more dominant than the other learners.
2) Students rely on other students.\(^{30}\)

\(^{30}\)
d. Procedures of Questioning the Author (QtA) Strategy

The Procedure for using QtA strategy may be understood and implemented through examining in two major components: (1) Teacher’s planning, (2) Teacher-led guided discussions.

• The teacher analyzes the text.
• The teacher develops queries for each aspect of the text.

Figure 1
Graph of Implementing of QtA

a. Teacher’s Planning

During the planning phase, the teacher prepares instruction by reading the selection from the text, segmenting the text for reading, and developing quires for discussions.

Step 1: Analyzing the Text

The teacher reads the text from the students’ perspectives to anticipate the problems that it will pose to the readers. After reading and analyzing the text, the teacher segments it into chunks (orientation (first paragraph), event (second paragraph), re

---

30 Beuhl, Dough, Classroom Strategies for Interactive Learning, (Chicago: International Reading Association, 2009), p.139 orientation (last paragraph), that clarification for the readers to understand to move on to the next segment of the text. The teacher then prepares for the discussion phase by developing queries that will be posed to the author during students’ reading of text.

Step 2: Developing Queries

Queries are guided discussion question that encourage students to develop their comprehension. They are unlike traditional question that most teachers use to evaluate students’ comprehension after they have read the assigned text. Queries are different. They are used by students’ during reading to help them construct meaning from the text by asking the author to clarify an ambiguous part of the text. The teacher prepared two types queries for informational text: initiating and follow-up queries.

Examples of initiating and follow up queries:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Initiating queries</th>
<th>Follow-up queries</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>What is the author trying to say here?</td>
<td>What does the author mean here?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What is the author’s message</td>
<td>Does the author explain clearly?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>What is the author talking about?</td>
<td>What is the author message</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

b. Implementation

In this phase the teacher directs the students to read a segment of the text and engages them in a discussion where queries are raised about the text for the purpose of helping students to comprehend the text. The teacher models the QtA process by posing queries to get at the author’s meaning. Continuing the discussion, the teacher asks students to respond the queries. When the students’ responses to the query showthat they have constructed meaning from the text, the teacher will continue the process with another segment of the text. When the students show that the author is not conveying the intended meaning, the teacher poses a follow-up query or provides information for the students to understand the meaning of the text. To provide the structure to the discussion, there are some steps of the procedure as the options that the teacher could be taken in the discussion movers as follows;

1. Marking
   Teacher’s response to student’s comments that would highlight an important idea that was made.

2. Turning back
   Teacher’s response to student’s comment that will require further development of thought and figuring out ideas, or it may turn the students’ attention back to the text for further clarification of ideas.

3. Revoicing
   When the student is having the difficulty expressing a response, the teacher will restate the comment to help clarify the comment.

4. Modeling
   The teacher models are response to the text or the process of using queries and responses to build meaning from the text.

5. Annotating
   The teacher offers information to fill the gaps that the author left.
6. Recapping

The teacher summarizes the information that has been constructed by the students as they interacted with the text.\(^{31}\)

Based on the explanation above, it can be concluded that there are two major of the procedure of Questioning the Author strategy, those are 1) Teacher’s Planning, include analyzing the text and developing queries , 2) Implementation.

e. Teaching Reading Comprehension in Recount Text by Using QtA Strategy

The following are steps to teaching reading comprehension by using QtA strategy which is modified from Antonacci’s theory of procedure of using QtA strategy.

Opening

- The teacher greets the students by saying good morning.
- The teacher checks the students’ attendance by calling them one by one.

Pre Reading Activity

1. The teacher motivates the students to learn the lesson will be taught by asking them some question related to topic.

2. Teacher explains to the students about the material that will be given.

3. Teacher shows example of recount text.

4. Teacher asks the student about the topic of the recount text.

\(^{31}\) Patricia A. Antonacci et al, 40 Strategies for Middle and Secondary Classrooms; Developing Content Area Literacy (2nd Ed), (London: SAGE Publications, Inc, 2015), pp.131-132
While Reading Activity

1. Firstly, students listen to the teacher’s explanation about QtA strategy and follow the teacher’s instruction based on the QtA procedure. Students are explained that QtA can be used to help them comprehend text easily.

2. Next, students are provided a reading text. In this study, the teacher gave recount text as the reading text material. Here, teacher divide the text material in some segments and for each of the segment, the teacher develope queries that will be used to move the discussion and help students to think deeply about the readings for the purpose of constructing meaning.

3. Marking, after the students provided with reading text, the teacher response to student’s comments that will an important idea that was made.

4. Revoicing, next when the students is having difficulty expressing a response, the teacher will restate the comment to help clarify the comment.

5. Modeling, then the teacher models a response to the text or process of using queries and responses to build meaning from the text.

6. Annotating, after that the teacher offers information to fill the gaps that the author left. The teacher insightful response and continued until the discussion of the first reading segment was completed and directed students to continue to read the next segment, reading and discussing the text until they have completed.

7. Recapping, at last the teacher summarizes the information that has been constructed by the students as they interacted with the text.
Post Reading Activity

1. Students share their difficulties to understand the lesson.

2. The summary of the lesson is reinforced by the teacher.

Closing

- The teacher greets the students by saying good bye.

8. Concept of SQ3R (Survey, Question, Read, Recite, Review) Strategy

a. Definition of SQ3R Strategy

SQ3R is an acronym for survey, question, read, recite, and review. SQ3R is an effective active reading strategy to better understand written content. It’s also a great way to empower students who struggle concentrating on text. Additionally, students utilizing SQ3R have an easier time recollecting what they’ve read since they review content several times in multiple ways.32

S-Survey: means that the reader ought to be familiar with the organization and general contents of the reading material.

Q-Question: means that the reader should form questions by himself about the reading material that can be answered while reading. The easiest way to do this is to turn boldface headings into a question. Then the reader writes questions for each heading and subheading.

32 http://www.collegeatlas.org/sq3r-reading-strategy.html
R-Read: means that the reader should read one paragraph at a time and read with a purpose. The reader read the materials, section by section.

R-Recite: means that after the reader finishes each section he should stop. Reader can check their level of understanding and answer their questions for the section.

R-Review: means that when the readers have finished all the reading assignment, go back to each heading; recall this question and try to answer it.

b. Advantages of SQ3R Strategy

1. It helps the reader creating a framework so the reader can make predictions and formulate questions to guide their reading.

2. By surveying the text, the reader becomes familiar with the material before they read. It also activate any their prior knowledge of the subject.

c. Disadvantages of SQ3R Strategy

1. Allocation of time used to understand a text with SQ3R learning model may not be much different from studying plain text.

2. There is effectively implemented in the class by the number of students who are too big for the guidance of the teacher was not optimal, especially in formulating questions.

3. Students tough conditioned (crowded) when discussing with friends in studying the text of the subject matter.

d. Procedure of SQ3R Strategy

This strategy includes the following five steps (Robinson, 1946):

1. Survey: Students review the text to gain initial meaning from the headings, bolded text, and charts.
2. Question: Students begin to generate questions about their reading from previewing it.
3. Read: As students read, they need to look for answers to the questions they formulated during their preview of the text. These questions, based on the structure of the text, help focus students' reading.
4. Recite: As students move through the text they should recite or rehearse the answers to their questions and make notes about their answer for later studying.
5. Review: After reading, students should review the text to answer lingering questions and recite the questions they previously answered.

e. Teaching Reading Comprehension in Recount Text by Using SQ3R Strategy

Richardson & Morgan in Vintoni blogspot has described the procedures of teaching reading through SQ3R and based on those procedures the researcher modified the steps as follows:

34 https://www.google.co.id/webhp?sourceid=chrome-instant&ion=1&espv=2&ie=UTF-8&q=kekurangan%20dari%20strategy%20sq3r
Opening

- The teacher greets the students by saying good morning.
- The teacher checks the students’ attendance by calling them one by one.

Pre-activity

1. Students are asked about their daily activities (e.g. “Do you like to study English?”).
2. Students answer the questions relate to the material they will learn “Do you know about recount text?”, “What do you know about recount text?”, “Have you ever read recount text?”

Whilst-activity

1. Firstly, students listen to the teacher’s explanation about SQ3R strategy and follow the teacher’s instruction based on the SQ3R procedure. Students are explained that SQ3R can be used to help them comprehend text easily.
2. Next, students are provided a reading text. In this study, the teacher will give recount text as the reading text material.
3. Survey: After the students provided with reading text, the teacher asks them to see the title of the text. Then, the students skim the text and they have to give an overview about the text.
4. Question: After that, the students are asked to make some questions about the text before reading the whole text. This is a part of study process because it is able to encourage the students to stimulate their interactive sense.
5. Read: Next, the students read the whole text carefully. By reading the whole text, students can get several new ideas and compare them with the questions they made before.

6. Recite: Then, the students answer the questions they made by their own words and share their ideas with others.

7. Review: At last, the students remember what have been learnt, as a review, by reading their notes to help them comprehend the whole text given.

Post-activity

3. Students share their difficulties to understand the lesson.

4. The summary of the lesson is reinforced by the teacher.

5. Students listen to the closing of the meeting.³⁶

Closing

- The teacher greets the students by saying good bye.

B. Frame of Thinking

Nowadays, many students were not able to understand reading text. Students felt reading text was too difficult to comprehend. In other words, students’ reading ability in comprehending text was still low. To comprehend reading text, readers should know the best way how to comprehend the text easily without thinking that it was a must for them to know the whole meaning of the text.

The researcher thought that QtA strategy could give influence in students’ ability in comprehending reading text. It means that the students could use QtA as a strategy in their reading. By using QtA, the students made their reading more active and enjoyable. They could understand and remember details of each paragraph. They could also make and answer questions based on the text since this strategy had a goal to get the readers look for the questions based on the text.

Based on the statement above, the researcher believed that QtA strategy will make students interested in learning reading English text. In other words, reading ability in comprehending English text needed a lot of practice to master and QtA strategy will help the students to comprehend the reading text. That is why the researcher assumes QtA strategy will give detail information that should be found by them in the whole of the text after they read the text and it could also motivate students to read the text.

C. Hypothesis

Based on the theoretical assumption above, the researcher formulated the hypotheses as follows:

\( H_a : \) There is a significant influence of Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension of recount text at the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari in the academic year 2016 /2017?
$H_0$ : There is no significant influence of Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension of recount text at the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari in the academic year 2016/2017?
CHAPTER III
RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. Research Design

In conducting the research, the researcher applied quasi experimental design. Quasi experimental design is a research design that includes assignment, but not random assignment of participants to groups. This is because the experimenter cannot artificially create groups for the experiment.\(^1\) Further, the varieties of quasi experimental design, which can be divided into two main categories, there are pre-test and post-test only. For that, the researcher selected two classes, one is the control class and the other is the experimental class. The research design could be presented as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Select control group</th>
<th>Pretest</th>
<th>No treatment</th>
<th>Posttest</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Select experimental group</td>
<td>Pretest</td>
<td>Experimental treatment</td>
<td>Posttest</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

In this research, the researcher gave pre-test to know their basic skill in reading comprehension. The result of the pre-test used to indicate students’ reading comprehension to measure their previous ability before treatment (X). At the end of the research, the researcher gave post-test in order to know their achievement after the treatment by using QtA Strategy.

B. Variable of the Research

A variable is a characteristic or attribute of an individual or an organization that a researcher can measure or observe and varies among individuals or organizations studied.\(^2\) There are two variables in research namely: independent variable and dependent variable. Independent variable is the major variable which is investigated. It is the variable that is selected, manipulated and measured in the research. The dependent variable is the variable which is observed and measured to determine the effect of the independent variable.

In this research, there are two variables namely: QtA Strategy as X (Independent variable) and students’ reading comprehension of recount text as Y (Dependent variable).

C. Operational Definition of Variable

The operational of variable in this research is as follows:

1. Independent Variable (X)

   QtA Strategy is a strategy that can build comprehension from the text by giving the queries in questioning the author as the students’ discussion moves in recount text.

\(^2\) Ibid. p. 112.
2. Dependent Variable (Y)

Students’ reading comprehension of recount text means an activity to build understanding of the meaning of a text that tells about their past experience which fulfills the criteria of a good reading comprehension. Including main idea, expression/idioms/phrase in content, inference, grammatical features, details, excluding facts not written, supporting idea, vocabulary in content.

D. Population, Sample and Sampling Technique of The Research

1. Population

A population is a group of individuals who have the same characteristic. The populations of the research were all the eighth grade students in SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi at the second semester in the academic year of 2016/2017. The total numbers of all the students were 80 students that consist of 3 classes. Based on the statement above, all the classes were the population in this research. The total number of the students at the eighth grade in SMP Kemala Bhayangkari at the second semester in the academic year of 2016/2017 can be seen from the table below:

2. Sample of The Research

A sample is a subgroup of the target population that the researcher plans to study for generalizing about the target population. It can be elaborated that sample is a group of individuals as a part of population which is chosen as representative data of the whole population. In this research the researcher took two classes as the sample of the research: VIII B as experimental class and VIII A as control class.

3. Sampling Technique

In this research, the researcher used cluster random sampling technique. Cluster random sampling is a probability sampling technique that randomly selects and uses whole naturally occurring groups such as intact classrooms or entire voting precincts as the samples (clusters). Im cluster sampling, writer randomly select...

4 Ibid. p. 142.
naturally occurring groups, from a population: then they use as the sample all individuals within the selected clusters.\textsuperscript{6}

The researcher conducted the research at the eighth grade consists of three classes. The steps in determining the experimental class and control class as follows:

a. The first, the researcher made a kind of lottery.

b. Second, the researcher provided 3 pieces of small paper which each piece is the name of each class then the researcher rolled them up and put them into a glass.

c. Third, the researcher shook the glass and two pieces of the paper.

d. Next, the first paper as the experimental class and the second one as control class. The class VIII B as experimental class and VIII A as control class.

E. Data Collecting Technique

In this research, the researcher used objective test, the test of pre-test and post-test consist of 40 items of multiple choice questions with 4 options (a, b, c and d). Some tests conducted to collect the data will follows:

1. Pre-test

The researcher gave pre-test to the students before giving the treatments in order to know the basic of students’ reading ability before treatment and also the students’

\textsuperscript{6} Ibid, p. 192 mean score. The students answered the questions on the answer-sheets. Then the researcher did the scoring based on their answers on the test.

2. Post-test

The researcher asked the students to answer some questions. It would be administered after treatment to know the result of students’ reading ability in comprehending texts after they were taught by using QtA strategy. By looking at the students’ result in this post-test, so the researcher compared their scores before and after given treatment to draw a conclusion about QtA strategy.

F. Instrument of the Research

This research used multiple choice question (MCQ) as a tool for testing in order to know students’ reading comprehension on recount text. The text content 20 items with four alternative options. The test was aim to measure students’ reading comprehension on recount text. Based on Brown theories, especially reading, there are some criteria commonly used in measuring students’ ability in reading comprehension. Among them are:

1. Main idea/topic sentence
2. Expression/ idiom/ phrases in context
3. Inference (implied detail)
4. Grammatical features
5. Detail (scanning for a specially stated detail)
6. Excluding fact not written (used details)
7. Supporting idea

8. Vocabulary in context.\(^7\)

From those theories it can be concluded instrument is a tool to collect the data of the research. The good instrument to measure the students’ reading comprehension must based on the 8 criteria, they are: main idea, expression, inference, grammatical features, detail, excluding fact not written, supporting idea, vocabulary in context. But in this research the writer will be measure the students’ reading comprehension focus on 7 criteria based on the syllabus used in the school. These specifications of Reading Comprehension pre test and post-test as follow:

G. Procedure of the Research

In conducting this research, the researcher used some research procedures, they are:
1. Planning

Before the researcher applied the research procedure, the researcher made some planning to run well. There were some steps that should be planned by the researcher. The procedure of making planning of this research can be seen as follows:

a. Determining the subject

The subject of the research was the students in eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi.

b. Preparing the try-out

The researcher prepared a kind of test (called try-out test) that was given to the students. The writer prepared try-out test for pre-test and post-test. Then the writer evaluated the test items that tested in pre-test and post-test.

c. Preparing pre-test

The researcher prepares a kind of test (called pre-test) that given to the students before giving the treatment.

d. Preparing Pre Test

The researcher prepared a kind of test (called pre-test) that given to the students. The pre-test given was based on the questions selected in the try-out.

e. Determining the material to the taught

The researcher determined the materials that taught to the students, the materials are reading comprehension at recount text by using Questioning the Author strategy, in this case the theme is daily activity. It is based on the syllabus for the eighth grade for vocational school students.
f. Preparing the post-test

Prepared a kind of test (called post-test) that gave to the students. The researcher to know whether the students improve their reading comprehension or not..

2. Application

After making the planning, the researcher applied research procedure that is already planned. There were some steps in doing research:

a. In first meeting, the researcher gave try out test.

This test was multiple choice that consists of 40 items with four options a, b, c, and d. The test distributed in class eighth.

b. In second meeting, the researcher gave items after being determined by validity and reliability analysis of try out. It means that only valid and reliable test items used in the pre test.

c. In last meeting, the researcher gave post test with test items after being determined by validity and reliable.

3. Reporting

The last point that done in this research procedure was reporting. The steps are as follows:

a. Analyze the data received from try out test

b. Analyze the data received from pre-test and post-test.

c. Making a report on the findings.
H. Scoring System

Before getting the score, researcher determined the procedure to used in scoring the students’ work. In order to that, the write used Arikunto’s formula.\(^8\) The ideal highest score is 100. The scores of pre-test and post-test calculated by use the following formula:

\[ S = \frac{r}{n} \times 100 \]

Notes:

S : The score of the test r : The total of the right answer
n : The total item

I. Validity of the Test

A good test is the test that has validity. The validity test is conducted to check whether the test measures what is intended to be measured.\(^9\) It means that a good test must have validity so the test can measure the aspects that will be measured. To measure whether the test has good validity or not, the researcher used the content validity and construct validity.

a. The Content Validity

Content validity is the extended to which a test measures a representative sample of the subject matter, the focus of content validity is adequacy of the sample and simply on the appearance of the test. To get content validity, the test adapted with the students’ book that is the test suited with the material that taught to the students. Content validity is the level validity of the instrument that can be taken from course textbooks, syllabus, objectives, and the judgments of subject matter specialists. To get content validity, the test adapted with the book English in Focus for Grade VIII as the textbook that used, and based on the syllabus for the eighth grade of junior high school which are the Standard Competence for eight grade in the second semester is Understand the meaning in simple short essay in the form of recount, and narrative to interact with the surrounding environment. The syllabus could be seen in Appendix 11.

b. Construct Validity

Construct validity refers to assumption, showing the measurement used contains correct operational definition, which is based on theoretical concept. In other words, construct validity is just like a concept, both of them are abstraction and generalization that need to be defined so clearly that can be measured and be examined\(^\text{10}\). The researcher consulted the test to the teacher named Maryana, S.Pd in consulting the test, the researcher wanted to see whether the specification reading comprehension and items number had been fixed. After the researcher consulted the \(^{10}\text{Ibid}, \text{p. 187} \) test with the teacher, Maryana said that the reading test material was suitable for the student level. It could be seen in Appendix 7.

c. The Internal Validity

According to Creswell, internal validity, which relates to the validity of inferences drawn about the cause and effect relationship between the independent and dependent variables. It means that to know score the best result of each items correlated with the score about the totality of the test result. This research, researcher used ANATES Version 4 program to know validity of which consist of 40 items multiple choice.

J. Reliability of Test

According to Creswell, Reliability means that scores from an instrument are stable and consistent. Reliability refers to consistency of the test. The researcher used ANATES Version 4 program. ANATES can help analysis of item quickly, easy and accurately. ANATES is necessary in the research to assess the good instrument or not.

The criteria of reliability test are:

0.800-1.000 = Very high reliability
0.600-0.800 = High reliability
0.400-0.600 = Medium reliability
0.200-0.400 = Low reliability

12 Ibid, 159
From the criteria of reliability above, it can be drawn a conclusion that the result obtained in the ANATES of reliability that reliability test in Recount Text for pre test has a high reliability because the result of the reliability is 0.56 and the result of post test was 0.76. The writer concluded that the degree of the level of reliability of the students was high reliability. It can be seen in Appendices 8 and 9.

K. Data Analysis

After collecting the data, the researcher analyzed the data by using independent sample t-test. There were two tests that must be done before analyzing the data by using independent sample t-test. They were normality test and homogeneity test.

1. Prerequisite Test

Prerequisite is a test done to measure the level of mastery of the knowledge base to be able to receive knowledge sequel. Basic knowledge is usually called the material prerequisite knowledge. 14

a. Normality Test

The normality test is used to know whether the data in the experimental class and control classes are normally distributed or not. In this research the researcher used statistical computation by using SPSS (Statistical Package for Social

13 Suhairmi arikunto, Op.Cit., p.310
Science) for normality. The tests of normality employed are Kolmogorov – Smirnov and Shapiro Wilk. The hypotheses for the normality test is formulated as follows:

\[ H_0 : \text{The data have normal distribution.} \]
\[ H_a : \text{The data do not have normal distribution} \]

While the criteria of acceptance or rejection of normality test are:

\[ H_0 \text{ is accepted if } \text{sig} > \alpha = 0.05 \]
\[ H_a \text{ is accepted if } \text{sig} < \alpha = 0.05 \]

b. Homogeneity Test

Homogeneity test is used to determine whether the data obtained from the sample homogeneous or not. In this research, the researcher use statistical computation by using SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Sciences). The hypotheses for the homogeneity test are:

\[ H_a = \text{The variance of the data is not homogeneous} \]
\[ H_0 = \text{The variance of the data is homogeneous} \]

While the criteria of acceptance or rejection of hypothesis test are:

\[ H_0 \text{ is accepted if } \text{sig} > \alpha = 0.05 \]
\[ H_a \text{ is accepted if } \text{sig} < \alpha = 0.05 \]
2. Hypothetical Test

After the researcher knows that the data is normal and homogeneous, the data analyzed by using sample T-test, to know the significance of the treatment effect. The researcher used SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Sciences) for hypothetical of test.

The hypotheses are:

- Ha: There is a significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy toward students’ reading comprehension of recount text at the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi in the academic year of 2016/2017.

- Ho: There is no a significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy toward students’ reading comprehension of recount text at the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi in the academic year of 2016/2017.

While the criteria of acceptance or rejections of hypothetical test are:

- \( H_a \) is accepted if \( \text{Sig.} < \alpha = 0.05 \)

- \( H_0 \) is accepted if \( \text{Sig.} > \alpha = 0.05 \)
A. Result of the Research

The researcher got the data in the form of score. The score was derived from pre-test and post test. The pre test was held on March, 2017 and post-test on April 17, 2017.

In pre test, the researcher gave the task for the students before treatment and in the post test, the researcher gave the task for student to answer the question after treatment.

1. Result of Pre-test

The pre-test was administrated in order to know students’ reading comprehension before the treatments given. It can be seen from the pre-test score of students’ reading comprehension in the control class and experimental class.

Figure 1
Graphs of the Result of the Pre-test in Control Class
Based on figure 1, the mean of pre-test in control class is 55.38, standard deviation was 9.157, N was 26. It showed students’ reading comprehension without the treatments.

Figure 2
Graphs of the Result of the Pre Test in Experimental Class

Based on figure 2, the mean of pre-test in experimental class is 53.70, standard deviation was 12.215, N was 27. It showed students’ reading comprehension before they got treatments.

2. Result of Post-test

The post-test was administrated in order to know students’ reading comprehension before the treatments given. It can be seen from the post-test score of students’ reading comprehension in the control class and experimental class.
Based on figure 3, the mean of post-test in control class is 69.81, standard deviation was 5.741, N was 26. It showed students’ reading comprehension without the treatments.
Based on figure 4, the mean of post-test in experimental class is 76.30, standard deviation was 7.554, N was 27. It showed students’ reading comprehension after they got treatments.

3. Result of Normality Test

The writer tested normality test after got score of the students in reading comprehension pretest and posttest of descriptive text using SPSS version 16.

a. The hypotheses are :

H₀: The data have normal distribution.

Hₐ: The data do not have normal distribution.

b. The test criteria

If the value (p) > significant (α = 0.05) it means that, H₀ was accepted

If the value (p) < significant (α = 0.05) it means that, Hₐ was accepted

¹. Lilliefors Significance Correction
Based on Table 12, it can be seen that Pvalue (Sig.) for control class was 0.080 and Pvalue (Sig.) for experimental class was 0.082. Because Sig. (Pvalue) of experimental class > α 0.05. So, H₀ is accepted and Sig. (Pvalue) for the control class > α 0.05. So, Hₐ is rejected. The conclusion is that the data in the experimental class and control class had normal distribution. (See appendix 22)

4. Result of Homogeneity Test

The researcher tested Homogeneity Test after she got score of student reading comprehension in control class and experimental class (pretest and posttest of reading comprehension in descriptive text by using SPSS)

a. The hypotheses are:

Hₐ = The variance of the data is not homogeneous

H₀ = The variance of the data is homogeneous

b. The criteria of the test are follows:

H₀ is accepted if sig > α = 0.05

Hₐ is accepted if sig < α = 0.05

Based on the results obtained in the test of homogeneity of variances in the column, it could be seen that Sig. (Pvalue) was 0.673 > α was 0.05. It demonstrated that H₀ was accepted because $\text{Sig. (Pvalue)} > \alpha$ was 0.05. It means that the variance of the data was homogenous. (See appendix 23)

5. Result of Hypothetical Test

Based on the previous explanation that the normality and homogeneity test were satisfied. Therefore, the researcher used the hypothetical test using SPSS (Statistical Program for Social Science), independent sample t-test.

The hypothesis formulas are:

$H_a$ : There is a significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text at the eighth grade of SMP Kemamla Bhayangkari Kotabumi in the academic year of 2016/2017.

$H_o$ : There is no significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text at the eighth grade of SMP Kemamla Bhayangkari Kotabumi in the academic year of 2016/2017.

The criteria of acceptance or rejection of the hypothesis for hypothetical test were:

$H_o$ is accepted if $\text{Sig. (Pvalue)} > \alpha = 0.05$

$H_a$ is accepted if $\text{Sig. (Pvalue)} < \alpha = 0.05$

</tbody>
</table>

Based on the results obtained in the independent sample t-test in Table 14, that the value of significant generated $\text{Sig. (P}_{\text{value}}$) was $0.000 < \alpha$ was 0.05. So, $H_a$ is accepted and $H_o$ is rejected. Based on the computation, it can be concluded that there was a significant influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text at the second semester of the eighth grade of SMP Kemamla Bhayangkari Kotabumi in the academic year of 2016/2017. (See appendix 24).

B. Discussion

At the beginning of the research, the researcher explained there were some procedures used to know students’ reading comprehension in recount text. Some tests were conducted to collect the data such as pre-test and post-test. The pre-test was administered to know students’ quality in reading comprehension in recount text before they were given treatments by the writer. The score of pre-test would be used as the students’ score before treatments.

Based on the result of the students’ pre-test score and post-test score, it showed that the students’ post-test is higher than in pre-test. QtA can improve each aspect of students reading comprehension including main idea (topic), inference (implied detail), grammatical feature, detail (scanning for a specifically stated detail), excluding fact not written, supporting idea, vocabulary in content. The result of pre-test and post-test also showed that the students who taught by using QtA got better result than the students who taught by using SQ3R.

Based on the analysis of the data and the testing of hypothesis, the result of T-test null hypothesis ($H_0$) is refused and alternative hypothesis ($H_a$) is accepted. It means that the treatments had influence of using Questioning the Author (QtA) towards students’ reading comprehension of recount text, so alternative hypothesis is accepted. It had been supported by the previous research conducted by Resi Silvia. The previous research conducted at SMA N 1 Sungai Penuh, West Sumatera which entitled “The Effect of Questioning the Author Strategy in Reading Comprehension in Narrative Text”. The result of the study showed that Questioning the Author Strategy is effective way on students’ reading comprehension. After being taught through Questioning the Author Strategy, the researcher concluded that there was a significant influence of students’ reading comprehension. By applying Questioning the Author Strategy, students would think critically for students to make Therefore, Questioning the Author Strategy also gives the students a chance to work with a group discussing what will happen next in the text, if the students share their ideas with the friends in reading class, it will help their friends who are not understand the content of the text.

Beck and her associates in Buehl defines that Questioning the Author Strategy is an especially powerful strategy to help students adopt an inquiring orientation the text. It means Questioning the Author strategy focus on a series of questions that one might naturally pose about any message students might receives, in any form.² QtA queries are teacher question design to assist students in dealing with, grasping text ideas as students encounter them. They are intended to support the students in building an understanding of major text ideas, and to help them discover the difference between knowing an author says and inferring what an author means. There are two types of queries; they are initiating queries and follow-up queries. Initiating queries is an open-ended question to begin the discussion about a part of a text, while follow-up queries is an intensive question to help students figure out more detailed information from the part of the text. It can be concluded that QtA queries help teacher in their role as facilitators by guiding the progress of group discussion and helping students to develop their ideas. The queries are not used to assess comprehension after reading, but to construct meaning during reading in step implementation those are marking, turning back, revoicing, modeling, annotating and recapping.³ Therefore, it can be concluded that students’ reading comprehension in recount text was influenced by the Questioning the Author (QtA) Strategy.

CHAPTER V
CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

At the end of the research, the post-test was given to measure the influence of Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text in both classes after treatments done. The mean score of post-test in experimental class was 76.30 and the mean score of post-test in control class was 69.81. It showed that the students’ post-test score in experimental class was higher than students’ post-test score in control class.

The result can be seen from sig. (2-tailed) of the equal variance assumed in the independent sample test table where the sig. (2-tailed) is 0.000. It is lower than $\alpha = 0.05$ and it means that Ho is rejected and Ha is accepted.

Based on the result of data analysis, It means that there is advantage of using Questioning the Author (QtA) strategy towards students’ reading comprehension in recount text at the second semester of the eighth grade of SMP Kemala Bhayangkari Kotabumi in 2016/2017 academic year.
B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the researcher puts forward the following suggestions:

1. Suggestion for the Teacher
   a. In this research, the researcher found out that Questioning the Author strategy as an alternative strategy of the teaching process is a good way to be applied. Due the finding, English teacher can help students increase their reading comprehension by using Questioning the Author.

2. Suggestion for the Students
   a. The students should do activities that related in English to enrich their vocabulary and remember vocabulary that they get to comprehend the text in reading.

3. Suggestion for the School
   a. The school should provide some more English books to be read by students, so they can interest their knowledge.
   b. The school should provide another facility for students to practice English competency.

Text 2 (Question 6-9)

It was early in the morning we left Ubud and travelled to Gili Air which is one of three islands of Lombok. It took 4 hours in total by boat. The travelling was not bad but it was a hot day. I said to Jane on the slow boat " It’s alright babe, it won’t be so hot and stuffy once we get moving."

When we got to Gili Air it was still quiet so we were able to get a bungalow near the beach for about $ 15 a night plus breakfast. We shared our room with quite a number of geckos. Some of them were quite large ones. The weather was still hot when I went diving. Jane waited for me at the seashore. She observed some fishermen who had just caught some fish. She did not want to dive because she had a trauma with sea animals. We had three days here which we spent walking around the island which takes about an hour. Every night, we sat on the couches near the beach and watched the waves and the stars. It was a fantastic journey that I ever had.

Text 5 (Question 23-27)

I was so glad that today is over. So many things have gone wrong. I did not sleep a wink last night. I was very tired when Mum called me this morning. I felt asleep again when Mum called me again. That snooze made me late.

I did not have time for breakfast. I was striving as I ran to catch the school bus. I just missed it. Dad had to ride me to school. He was late for teaching at his school and he was furious with me. He shouted me for being late.

I arrived at school on time. The teacher asked us to hand in our homework. My homework was not in my bag. I forgot to put in my bag the night before. I usually check in the morning, but I did not do this because I was late I had to do extra assignment as a punishment.

After biology lesson, I did not use tie my shoelace properly. I tripped over it.
And felt down the stairs. My knee was blood and had to have a bandage on it.

What a terrible day! I hope that I have much better one tomorrow.

Read the text below and answer the following question by crossing (X) the correct answer A, B, C, D!

Text 1 (Question 1-5)

Let me remind you my experience during an earthquake last week. When the earthquake happened, I was on my car. I was driving home from my vocation to Bali. Suddenly my car launched to one side, to the left. I thought I got flat tire. I did not know that it was an earthquake. I knew it was earthquake when I saw some telephone and electricity poles falling down to the ground, like matchsticks.

Then I saw a lot of rock tumbling across the road. I was trapped by the rock. Even I could not move my car at all. There were rocks everywhere. There was nothing I could do but left the car and walked along way to my house, in the town.

When I reached my town, I saw so surprised that there was almost nothing left. The earthquake made a lot of damage to my town. Although nothing was left, I thanked God that nobody seriously injured.

Directions:

Read the text below and answer the following question by crossing (X) the correct answer A, B, C, D!

Text 1 (Question 1-2)

Let me remind you my experience during an earthquake last week. When the earthquake happened, I was on my car. I was driving home from my vocation to Bali.

Suddenly my car launched to one side, to the left. I thought I got flat tire. I did not know that it was an earthquake. I knew it was earthquake when I saw some telephone and electricity poles falling down to the ground, like matchsticks.

Then I saw a lot of rock tumbling across the road. I was trapped by the rock. Even I could not move my car at all. There were rocks everywhere. There was nothing I could do but left the car and walked along way to my house, in the town.

When I reached my town, I saw so surprised that there was almost nothing left. The earthquake made a lot of damage to my town. Although nothing was left, I thanked God that nobody seriously injured.

Recount Text

1. Definition of Recount Text
Recount text is a text that telling the reader about one story, action or activity. It’s goals to entertaining and informing the reader.

2. Generic Structure of Recount Teks
a. Orientation: tells who was involved, what happened, where the events took place, and when it happened. Example: when I was junior high school, I was not a very diligent student.

b. Events (event 1 and 2): tell what happened and what sequence. Example: Once, my teacher grounded me in the library because I did not do my biology homework.

4. Example of Recount Text

   My Football Experience

   When I was junior high school, I really loved football. Every Saturday afternoon, I practiced in school field with my team and my coach. They were strong and smart players. My coach, Mr. Sentana was a kind person. But, while he was coaching us, he was very discipline. He would grounded everyone who came late and not obeyed the team’s rules.

   With Mr. Sentana my team won many tournaments in many big cities. Our team named after our school, 67 team (from SMP 67) and we have fans too you know. Ooh, that was so cool. Now I was loved football, and I have team too. But, my parents want me to pay attention more to my study, football just for hobby.

Teknik : Tes tertulis
Bentuk : Multiple coices Instrument :
Let me remind you my experience during an earthquake last week. When the earthquake happened, I was on my car. I was driving home from my vocation to Bali.

Suddenly my car launched to one side, to the left. I thought I got flat tire. I did not know that it was an earthquake. I knew it was earthquake when I saw some telephone and electricity poles falling down to the ground, like matchsticks.

Then I saw a lot of rock tumbling across the road. I was trapped by the rock. Even I could not move my car at all. There were rocks everywhere. There was nothing I could do but left the car and walked along way to my house, in the town.

When I reached my town, I saw so surprised that there was almost nothing left. The earthquake made a lot of damage to my town. Although nothing was left, I thanked God that nobody seriously injured.

   Went to School

   My mom got me ready for school and then I had to wait for her to brush my hair and put each piece in just the perfect position. I had to show her my shoes. I had cleaned the night before. My school bag should be neatly placed on my shoulder before I could get near the door in my room. Only after my mother was completely satisfied, whether I would be allowed to rush out of my house.

   I would leave home at 7 am at the point and make me way down the path. After walking about 500 meters I could see the tower of my high school. Play will be full in the summer and the noise would make me want to rush into the courtyard and into a good game of football before the bell. That's how I now want to go to school.

New Year Night

On Saturday night, we went to the Town Hall. It was the last day of the year and a large crowd of people had gathered on the Town Hall clock. It would strike twelve in twenty minutes’ time. Fifteen minutes passed and then, at five to twelve, the clock stopped. The big minute hand did not move. We waited and waited but nothing happened. Suddenly someone shouted “It’s two minutes past twelve! The clock has stopped!”

I looked by my watch. It was true. The big clock refused to welcome the New Year. At that moment, everybody began to laugh and sing.

Holiday Fun

Last summer I had a nice holiday. I visited some great places. I went to the airport and will fly to Cleveland. I spent three days there. I am glad to see some of the Cleveland Cavaliers basketball game. Then I went to Hollywood.

Hollywood is a famous district in Los Angeles, California, United States. It has become world famous as a center for the film industry. Four major film companies - Paramount, Warner Bros, RKO and Columbia - had studios in Hollywood. I do not want to leave, but I had to leave her. After that, I went to the city of New York. I visited the Statue of Liberty is very beautiful.

I went from the bottom of Manhattan to the top of the crown. It was so amazing. The place makes me feel at home, but I have to go home. Next time I'll get back to them very enjoyable.

Read the text carefully and then answer the question by crossing the correct answer?

There were so many places to see in Bali that my friend decided to join the tours to see as much as possible. My friend stayed in Kuta on arrival. He spent the first three days swimming and surfing on Kuta beach. He visited some tours agent and selected two tours. The first one was to Singaraja, the second was to Ubud.

On the day of the tour, he was ready. My friends ad his group drove on through mountains. Singaraja is a city of about 90 thousand peoples. It is a busy but quiet town. The streets are lined with trees and there are many olds. Dutch houses. Then they returned very late in the evening to Kuta.

The second tour to Ubud was very different tour. It was not to see the scenery but to see the art and the craft of the island. The first stop was at Batubulan, a center of stone sculpture. There my friends watched young boys were carving away t big blocks of stone. The next stop was Celuk, a center for silversmiths and goldensmiths. After that he stopped a little while for lunch at Sukawati and on to mass. Mass is a tourist center.

My friends’ ten-day-stay ended very quickly besides his two tours, all his day was spent on the beach. He went sailing or surfboarding every day. He was quiet satisfied.
