CHAPTER I
INTRODUCTION

A. Background of the Problem

Language is an important device and a very beneficial means for human being to communicate with other people. By using language, people can talk and understand each other. English is an important language in this world because English has become international language in getting knowledge resources. In many sides, such as in education, economic, political and trade almost of them use English. Harmer says, "a language function is a purpose you wish to achieve when you say or write something." English has big role for human being especially to face modern life in globalization era.

One of the language which is taught in Indonesia is English. According Harmer, language is used widely for communication between people who do not share the same first (or even second) language. English has an essential role for developing countries such as Indonesia. In Indonesia, the awareness to compete with global society has grown. Therefore, English teaching is spread all over the country.

1 Jeremy Harmer, How to Teach English, Edinburgh Gate, Longman, 2007, p.76
English has four language skills and one of them is writing skill. It is useful in life side such as in writing an application letter, it needs special skill in writing, in order to get the written will be good. Besides that, good writers who master writing well can become good professions in their jobs for example a novelist, a jurnalist and a book author. Although writing is very useful for human being, but it is very difficult to be thought and mastered especially for students, because there are many aspects in writing should be understood by the students.

Writing is complex language skill. In writing, the students have able to elaborate the topic based on the certain idea, prove a statement, describe an object, expose a new truth of a certain fact an object and persuade those readers to take a certain course of action, feelings and setting. Beside that there are many kinds of writing text, narrative, descriptive, expository, persuasive, and recount text that must be mastered by the students. In this research, the researcher was focus on recount text. Recount text is a text story whose purpose is to amuse or to entertain the reader with actual or imaginary experience in difference ways. Recount always deals with some problems which lead to retell the story that happens in the past such as the adventure in camping, going to picnic, etc. Pardiyono says that recount information about various event or activities that have been carried out.

4 Pardiyono, Pasti Bisa Teaching Genre Based Speaking Metode Pengajaran Speaking Berbasis Sentence Acquisition and Genre. Penerbit Andi, 2009, p.120
Based on the preliminary research conducted at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus, the researcher found that teaching and learning recount text writing through AFS strategy has been applied in that school. AFS Strategy is Action Feelings Setting Strategy. According to Peha, Action Feelings Setting as a strategy of teaching writing is “create an effective description of any scene”.\(^5\) It means that Action Feelings Setting Strategy is the strategy to write some text by representing every scene in action. Action is describing what was going on, feelings are describing about how people felt, and Setting is describing about where and when the event took place.

Based on previous research has been done by Rahmawati that, there is significant influence of using Action Feelings Setting (AFS) Strategy towards students’ recount paragraph writing ability. It is showed by result of \(t_{\text{test}}\), where \(t_{\text{observed}} > t_{\text{critical}}\), that is 2.407 > 1.6669 for level of significance 0.05. this also indicates that the alternative hypothesis (Ha) is accepted. In other words, AFS Strategy has a significant influence on the students’ recount paragraph writing ability at the eighth grade of MTS Ma’arif NU 14 Sidorejo East Lampung.

AFS is a good strategy for teach writing, but the students’ writing ability in SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus is still low, it means that teaching learning process by using AFS strategy is not satisfy enough.

From the result of interview, the researcher found that the most of the students at eighth grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus still found difficulties in writing recount text. The students could not write things, places, and a person in detail because they do not have any idea when they are asked to write them. They were lazy.

and bored if the teacher asked them to write about something. There are many students are lack of motivation in writing. Besides that, some of them did not know what they should write. The other problems which also emerged are choosing the topic, arranging text and using of vocabulary. Besides that, they were difficult to express their memoriam about something that they wanted to write. They did not have enough self confidence to make their own sentence.⁶

Based on the table above, the total number of students in the failed category is higher than in the passed category. There are 201 students in failed category (67.16%) and students in passed category (32.84%). It can be inferred that the achievement of the students in learning recount paragraph is relatively low because the criteria of minimum mastery (KKM) in SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus is 75.⁷ The teacher said that the most difficult aspect in teaching English to the students was recount text. She also said that the students felt difficult to get idea and ability to make recount text writing.

⁷ By doing preliminary research in SMP Negeri 1 Semaka, Tanggamus on April 20th, 2015
From the result of interview and on the explanation mentioned above, the researcher conducted a research entitled “Teaching And Learning Recount Text Writing through Action Feelings Setting (A-F-S) Strategy at the Second Semester of the Eighth Grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus in the Academic Year Of 2015/2016.”

B. Identification of the Problem
1. The students were difficult in learning recount text
2. The Action Feelings Setting strategy used by teacher was not optimal in applied

C. Limitation of the Problem
In this research, the researcher limited the problems of the research to make more focused in junior high school, there are many interesting strategy to study, but the researcher only focused on the use of Action Feelings Setting strategy to teach recount text at the second semester of the eighth grade students at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus.

D. Formulation of the Problem
In this research, the researcher formulated the problem as follows:
1. How was the process of teaching and learning recount text through AFS at the eighth grade students of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka?
2. What were the teacher’s problems in the process of teaching recount text through AFS at eighth grade students of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka?
3. What were the students’ problems in the process of learning recount text through AFS?

E. Objective of the research

1. To know and describe of teaching and learning recount text through AFS
2. To know teacher’s problem in teaching recount text through AFS
3. To know the students’ problems in learning recount text through AFS

F. Uses of the research

The researcher expects that there were some uses of the research as follows:

1. For the students
   By using action feelings setting, it is hoped that the students are more interested and motivated in learning English, so that their English recount text writing will be developed and it will give positive effect on their English achievement.

2. For the teacher
   By using action feelings setting the teacher can improve his/her creativity in teaching process, so that the goal of learning can be achieved.

3. For the school
   It is expected that this research can provide useful input in improving the quality of learning in the school.
G. Scope of the Research

This researcher divided the scope of the writer into four parts, they are:

1. Subject of the research

   The subjects of the research were teacher and students at the Second semester of the eighth grade at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus.

2. Object of the research

   The object of research was teaching recount text through action feelings setting (AFS) strategy

3. Time of the research

   The research was conducted at the Second semester in the Academic Year Of 2015/2016

4. Place of the research

   The research was conducted at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus.
CHAPTER II
REVIEW OF LITERATURE

A. Concept of Teaching and Learning English

1. Concept of Teaching English

Teaching means to give (someone) knowledge or to instruct or to train (someone).\(^1\) Teaching is showing or helping someone to learn how to do something, giving instructions, guiding in the study of something, providing with knowledge, causing to know or understand.\(^2\) It means that to show or helping somebody how to do or understand something or to change somebody’s ideas. Based on the explanation above the researcher concluded that teaching was a process of transferring knowledge from the teacher to the students or to give somebody knowledge and understand about something by using some creative ways in transferring the knowledge. As we know that teaching is a process of transferring knowledge from the teacher to the students, so as the teacher need to know what should be done in teaching process the student as learner will be easy in learning English. Besides, by having practice the students’

English comprehension can develop. Thus, teaching English will be success in teaching process, English is taught as language of comprehension rather than as literary language. Therefore, by having practice tasks continuously, when students do more practice continuously as a behavior so that can increase students’ comprehension ability and finally the teacher will reach the goal in teaching English. There are some points which are included into the goal of teaching English, as follows:

1. To enable students to understand spoken or written language.
2. To enable students to speak simple English correct language.
3. To enable the students to write the language properly.
4. To enable the students to read the language with ease.

From the point above, it could be concluded that the goal of teaching English is the students can understand spoken or written language, simple speaking correctly, writing properly and then enable to reading easily.

From the definition above, the researcher assumed that teaching English is the way to transfer knowledge from the teacher to the students by giving, guiding, facilitating students. Besides, more practice to get a comprehension and a responsibility on the truth from the materials are some important points in teaching English to achieve the goals in teaching English itself.

3 M.F. Patel and Praveen M. Jain, English Language Teaching, (Sunrice: Jaipur, 2008), p.2
4 Ibid, p.53
2. Concept of Learning English

Learning can be defined as the way through which the art of using skill and practice is given to learn.\(^5\) In addition Brown says that learning is acquiring or getting of knowledge of a subject or a skill by study, experience, or instruction.\(^6\) Based on theories above, learning is the way through which the art of using skill and practice is given to acquiring or getting of knowledge of a subject or a skill by study, experience, or instruction. In other words, there are some skills that should mastered by students as the learner. As we know English have some skills, such as listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Therefore, success in learning English by study, experience or instruction will realize if the students are able to be mastered in all skills by doing more practice in learning process.

In learning process, practice has an important role, in this case learning a language means forming habit of using language.\(^7\) Forming habit here is not only to practice students’ personality but also to change students’ behavior. This change occurs as a consequence of experience in some specify situations. The change brought about by developing a new skill, understanding a scientific law, changing attitude. The change is not namely incidental or natural in the way the human appearance change as people

\(^{5}\) M.F. Patel and Praveen M Jain, \textit{Op.Cit.}, p. 36
\(^{6}\) H Douglas Brown, \textit{Op.Cit.}, p. 18 get older. Learning is relatively permanent change, usually brought about incidentally.

Based on the explanation above, the researcher concluded that learning is the students way through which the art of using skill and practice is given to acquiring or getting of knowledge of a subject or a skill by study, experience, or instruction that the teacher gives to them. In addition, teaching English should be put as the first priority to achieve the goal of teaching English, there should be skillful creative, and innovative teachers. These teachers surely need media and interesting strategies or which can support them in achieving the goal. One thing that the teachers need the most in teaching is an interesting strategy because it plays an important role in teaching learning process. In addition, the teaching strategies are suggested to be interesting and appropriate for students as well.

B. Concept of Writing

1. Definition of Writing

Writing is a psychological activity of the language user to put information in the writing text.\(^8\) The written productive language skill is called writing. It is skill of a writer to communicate information to a reader or group of readers. Her or his skill is also realized by his or her ability to apply the rules of the language s/he is writing to transfer information s/he has in her or his mind to her or his readers(s) effectively.

Writing is a process of communication which uses conventional; graphic system to convey a message to reader. For many of foreign language learner, writing is considered as the most difficult skill because in writing they have to combine the correct grammatical and also the coherence of the paragraph.

Writing is often characterized as a hierarchically organized goal directed problem solving process. In writing consist of four main processes in writing they are planning, writing, editing and reviewing. In writing skill have shown that an instruction in each of these activities leads to better performance. To write a story or paragraph well must use stages from planning through writing and editing to reviewing.

Based on the theories above, the researcher can conclude that the definition of writing is one of process to expression their ideas, experience, thoughts and feelings through writing.

C. Writing process

In writing that a process of course, writing it is said consisted four stages in writing process they are:

1. Planning

   Plan what they are going to write. When planning, writers have to think about three main issues. In the first, place they have to consider the purpose. Secondly, experienced writers think of the audience they are writing for. Thirdly, writers have to consider the content structure.

2. Drafting

   The first version of a piece of writing as a draft. As the writing process proceeds into editing, a number of drafts may be produced on the way to the final version.

3. Editing (Reflecting and Revising)

   The writers tend to look at issues of general meaning and overall structure before concentrating on detailed features such as individual words and grammatical accuracy.

4. Final Version

   The writers is now ready to send the written text to its intended audience.12

D. Evaluation of Students’ Writing

The evaluation student writing based on Christopher Tribble’s as follows:

1. Content

2. Organization
3. Vocabulary
4. Language

E. Concept of Text

A text is a meaningful linguistic unit in a context. A text is both a spoken text and a written text. A spoken text is any meaning spoken text. It can be a word or a phrase or a sentence or a discourse. A written text is any meaningful written text. It means that text is a number of words to give a message to somebody in written or spoken.

Text have a structure, they are orderly grammatical of words, clauses and sentences, and by following grammatical rules writers can encode a full semantic representation of their intended meanings. Futher, language is always produced, exchanged or received as a text that is language as a system of communication is organized as cohesive units we call texts. It means that text is used as a communication by the writer with organized the structure of the text and grammatical of words, clauses and sentences.

The text structure is how to produce and interpret a unified and coherent text and how to select and use the correct grammatical aspects a certain unified and coherent text.\(^\text{17}\) According to Emilia that a text has texture and good characteristic\(^\text{18}\), as follow:

1. Coherence

   Coherence refers to a group clauses or sentences relate with the context. Coherence divided into situational coherence and generic coherence. Situational coherence is the reader can identify the text as one of the kind text such as recount, procedure, narrative, exposition, discussion, and can identify the structure in the text.

2. Cohesion

   Cohesion refers to how the writer relates each part from the text.

Based on those explanations, it can be inferred that a good text is a text that relates with the theme, use correct grammatical and generic structure appropriate with the text, and can be understood by the reader.

F. Kinds of Text

According to English Syllabus of School Based Curriculum (KTSP), the teaching of writing for students of Junior High School involves the teaching of paragraphs or text. In English, we can find many kinds of text in teaching of writing to students.

---

Each of these texts has its own characteristics and functions. Students should have knowledge of these texts. The examples genre of the texts are:

1. Spoof Text

   Spoof text is to retell an event with a humorous twist.

   a. Generic (schematic) structure:

      1. Orientation: sets the scene.
      2. Event(s): tell what happened.
      3. Twist: provides the “punchline”.

   b. Significant lexicogrammatical features:

      1. Focus on individual participants.
      2. Use of material processes.
      3. Circumstances of time and place.
      4. Use past tense.

2. Recounts Text

   Recount text is to retell events for the purpose of informing or entertaining.

   a. Generic structure:

      1. Orientation: provides the setting and introduce participants.
      2. Events: tell what happened, in what sequence.

   b. Significant lexicogrammatical features:

---

1. Focus on specific participants.

2. Use of material processes.

3. Use past tense.

4. Focus on temporal sequence.

3. Report text

Report is to describe the way things are, with reference to a range of natural, made, and social phenomena in our environment.

a. Generic structure:

1. General classification: tells what the phenomenon under discussion.

2. Description: tells what the phenomenon under discussion is like in terms of: Parts (and their functions), qualities, and habits or behaviors, if living: uses, if non-natural.

b. Significant lexicogrammatical features:

1. Focus on generic participants.

2. Use of relational processes to states what is and that which it is.

3. Use simple present tense.

4. No temporal sequence.

4. Analytical exposition text

Analytical exposition text is to persuade the reader or listener that something is the case.

a. Generic structure:
1. Thesis: position (introduce topic and indicates writer’s position) and preview (outlines the main arguments to be presented).

2. Arguments: point (restates main argument outlined in preview) and elaboration (develops and supports each point/argument)

3. Reiteration: restates writer’s position.

b. Significant lexicogrammatical features:

1. Focus on generic human and non-human participants.

2. Use simple present tense.

3. Use of relational processes.

4. Use internal conjunction to stage argument.

5. Reasoning through causal conjunction or nominalization.

5. Narrative text

Narrative text is to amuse, entertain and to deal with actual or vicarious experience in different ways; narrative deal with problematic events which lead to a crisis or turning of some kind, which in turn finds a resolution.

a. Generic structure:

1. Orientation: sets the scene and introduces the participants.

2. Evaluation: a stepping back to evaluate the plight.

4. Resolution: the crisis is resolved, for better or for worse.

5. Re-orientation: optional.

b. Significant lexicogrammatical features:
1. Focus on specific and usually individualized participants.

2. Use of material processes.

3. Use of relational processes and mental processes.

4. Use past tense.

Based on those explanations, it can be concluded that there are many kinds of text such as spoof text, recount text, report text, analytical exposition text, and narrative text. The kinds of the text those must be mastered by the students in writing for increase the students writing ability. In this research, the write only focuses in recount text as the form of writing that will be investigated because this kind of writing form is concluded as the material should be learned by the students for the eighth grade. Moreover, the students have already learned about it, so that the writer will be easier to find out the influence of using guided questions toward students’ recount text writing ability.

G. Concept of Recount Text Writing

Writing is a process of creating experience into a written form which includes introduction, body and conclusion. It is an activity that presents a chronological order of events within each. There are many types of writing text, such as descriptive, narrative, recount, and procedure. Therefore, this research focus on recount text.
Recount is a text which retells events or experiences in the past. Its purpose is either to inform or to entertain the audience. Meanwhile, a recount text is a paragraph story whose purpose is to amuse or to entertain the reader with actual or imaginary experience in difference ways. Gerot and Wignell add that recount is retells an event, tend use past tense, material process, and particular participants. Bachtiar also adds that recount is a text tells the reader a past event. It usually focuses on a person’s past experience. It means that recount is a series of events in the past and has its own generic structure. Recount text consists of orientation which introduces the participants, place and time, events which describe some events that happened in the past, and reorientation which states personal comment of the writer.

According to Christie and Derewianka, the purpose of ‘telling what happened’, for example, is typically realized in a recount genre which has a characteristic structure of Orientation ^Events ^(Re orientation). In line with Christie and Derewianka, Bachtiar and Cicik say that a recount text has three elements: orientation or setting, events and re-orientation or concluding statement of the story. The orientation tells the readers who was involved in the story, what happened, where the story took place, and when it happened. Desmal et.al., also support that, in orientation is a introductory paragraph giving background information about who, what, where, and when (but these are not always stated explicitly). The events tell the sequence of events, these are described in order. The re-orientation summarizes the event. Meanwhile there are some language features of recount such as:

1. Proper nouns to identify those involved (specific participants)
2. First person pronouns (I, we, me) are used to highlight the personal nature of the recount.
3. Use the past tense to describe past events.
4. Time adverbials are used to connect events chronologically e.g. in 1932, the next day.
5. Details and descriptive words (adjectivals and adverbials) are chosen and used to make the recount more vivid and interesting.

Based on those explanations, the writer concludes that recount text is one of the text that tell about the past events or experiences which have purpose of informing or entertaining. Recount text always uses simple past tense. The generic structures of recount text are orientation, events, and re-orientation.

H. Concept of Action Feelings Setting

1. Definition of Action Feelings Setting

David says in Winas’ books, “strategy is a plan, method, or series of activities designed to achieve a particular educational goal”. Based on this definition, strategy is a plan to operate the system to reach the goals. Strategy also can be defined as a skill to manage an event. It is a plan to reach the goal through the learning process. According to Siahaan, “students who are taught with a strategy are more highly motivated than those who are not and can be lead to more effective learning.” Moreover, Siahaan says, “teachers are always motivated to select a certain strategy that evidently effects to change the students behavior”.

In teaching and learning, the strategy is very urgent to simplify learning English process. Then, Action Feelings Settings Strategy is one of strategy in teaching writing process. Bellow is definition of Action Feeling Setting Strategy.

a) Action there’s something important happening in this scene. If there wasn’t, you wouldn’t be writing about it. Your readers are following the action closely. You need to describe the action simply and completely, so people will know what’s going on. Based on the definition, the researcher concludes that action is process of doing something by using energy.

b) Feelings describe the feelings of the important people in this scene. Tell what they are feelings and why they feel that way. Don’t forget to describe your feeling. According to Suryabrata in his book Psikologi Pendidikan usually a feeling defined as psychological symptoms that are subjective, generally associated with symptoms to know and be experienced in happy or not happy in various level. In the generally, feeling pertinent with the function of knowing; meaning feelings can arise due to observe, perceive, imagining, remembering or thinking about something. Based on the definition above, the researcher concludes that feeling is the nature sense of every person to felt something.

c) Setting tells where and when this is taking place. Also, include a detail or two that tells something interesting about what led up to this situation. Based on the definition above, the researcher concludes that setting is the background of situation where or when the situation was set.

Based on the theory above, the researcher concludes that AFS strategy is the strategy to write some paragraph by presented every scene in action, action was describing

31 Ibid, p.53
33 Steve Peha, Op cit, p.53
what was going on, feelings was describing about how the people felt, and settings was describing about where and when the event taking place.

2. Procedure of Action Feelings Setting Strategy

a. Start with a picture of yourself doing something. Draw or make a picture in your mind. What are you doing? How do you feel? Where are you?

Action: I’m opening a present. I saved this one for last because I think it’s the one I wanted most.

Feelings: I’m excited because it looks like the game console I wanted.

Setting: It’s Christmas morning. There’s torn paper all over the living room. My whole family is watching.

b. Improving the action with the idea and detail. Put the”action” on the left. On the right, add details in a bullet list.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>IDEA</th>
<th>DETAILS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I’m opening a present</td>
<td>* Struggle with the ribbon</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>* Rip into the paper</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>* Look for words on the box</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
c. Use the tell show to “show” your feelings. To show your feelings, instead of telling about them, describe how you looked at the time.

TELL

I’m excited

SHOW

* My hands are shaking.

* My hearts is pounding

* I start to sweat

Christmas morning. Paper all over the living room. My family watching me as I unwrap my last present. It’s the game cosole I asked for.

My hands shake as I struggle with the ribbon. My heart is pounding. I rip into the paper and look frantically for words on the box. Nothing. I start to sweat. It’s a plain white box. Oh no! it’s a sweater.

According to steve there are three variations to write, they are:

- Action – Feelings – Setting
- Setting – Action – Feelings
- Feelings – Setting – Action

From the statement above can concluded that there are three variations to write a paragraph. It means that the students can write recount paragraph through Action Feelings Settings strategy not only start from Action Feelings Settings, but also they able to write a paragraph start from Settings Action Feelings or Feeling Settings Action.

3. Strengths and Weaknesses of Action Feelings Settings

   a) Strength

   (1) The reader think it has something to do with how readers relate to writers. If the reader read your writing the reader may not be able to fully understand your experiences because he or she life has been different. But if you say you felt embarrassed or scared or excited about something. The reader know exactly what you mean because the reader have had those feelings.

   (2) The readers or the writers already know words like ‘’happy’’ and ‘’sad’’ and ‘’angry’’, so look for other synonyms and learn more about what those words mean.

   (3) On the ‘’show’’ side, think of ways to describe yourself so your readers will know how you feel without actually having to tell them.

   (4) The action was detail
(5) AFS can be called ‘’mini story’’.\textsuperscript{36}

b) Weakness

This is different from how are normally think about the setting. Usually, we think of the setting as simply time and place, when the story happened and where. We still need that information but we need bit more.\textsuperscript{37}

I. Developing the Action Feelings Setting Strategy

The students can write recount paragraph easier through the Action Feelings Settings Strategy, because in this strategy the ideas and the topic at the sentence in a paragraph will be discussed more specific. By using Actio Feelings Settings Strategy the students can express their ideas in writing recount paragraph more enjoyable, so this strategy can solve the students problem in writing recount paragraph.

There are some tips to develop the students’ recount paragraph writing ability through Action Feelings Settings Strategy :

1) Do not skimp on the feelings. In using AFS strategy you have to put the strong feeling in your writing, it is very important, because the writer want to make the readers feel the same feelings.

\textsuperscript{36}Rahmawati, \textit{The influence of Using AFS Strategy Toward Student’s Recount paragraph Writing Ability at the Second Semester of Eighth Grade at MTs NU 14 Sidorejo East Lampung}, 2014, p.32

\textsuperscript{37}Rahmawati, \textit{ibid}, p.33
2) Do not forget to tell the back story. Remember that in the setting. Part of AFS strategy we try to put in a detail or explains how, and when and where the situation happen. The back story is different from the normally setting, the back story is the story behind the story. When you write about things that happened before the story happened you have to give the readers a bit information about the back story, so your reader will understand what is going on.

3) Try to detail your action. Take the information you write for your action and put it on the “Idea” side of the Idea-Details strategy. Then, on the “Details” side, break the action down into as many parts as you can. Really stretch it out and try to make it last.

4) Write an Action-Feelings-Setting “mini” story. If you do a good job on each part of this strategy, the information makes a tiny story all by itself. Think about revising, editing, and publishing it with a color picture.38

J. Strategy in Teaching English

Strategy is the way for learners to solve problems encountered in constructing meaning in any context. Unlike skills, strategies chosen by learners are modified to fit the demands of the learning situation. Strategic learners know how and when to alter, modify, combine, and test individual strategies against their prior knowledge, beliefs, and experiences. So that, through Action Feelings Settings Strategy is an excellent and fun to increase the Recount text.

38 Steve Peha, op. cit. p. 57
Weinstein and Mayer define learning strategies as “behaviors and thoughts that student’s engages in during learning” which are “intended to influence the students encoding process”. Effective teachers have high expectation of student’s of both their standard of learning and their behavior, but they also have high expectations of themselves and their own learning development. As according to Killen, a teaching strategy includes: what the teacher does, the way in instruction is organized, how much the students are involved actively in learning, how much the students are responsible for the learning, and how learning is assed. This tells that a strategy is a teaching agenda that indicates the direction of the classroom activities to help the students make an achievement of certain language aspect. A teaching strategy is associated with a certain teaching material and the classroom teachers are suggested to use the suitable strategy to make an effect on the achievement of students on the teaching material to construct a certain knowledge and skill such as listening, speaking, reading and writing.

Based on the quotation above, strategy refers to an aspect accurate planning in classroom activity that will be used in learning process. In this way the teacher can teach and learn English with using strategy can motivate and improve the students to study English. The students also can be easy to understand the material subject that will be teach the teacher, more active in the class and so it can make the English teaching and learning process will be effective.

K. The Procedures of Teaching Recount Text Writing by using Action Feelings Setting Strategy

To wrote recount text by using AFS strategy. Peha says that, “to achieve the purpose in writing process there are some steps process or procedure in AFS Strategy”. To apply the AFS Strategy in teaching recount text, there are some steps as follows:

1) The teacher explains about recount text
2) Then, the teacher was explain about AFS Strategy
3) The teacher asks the students to make Recount text
4) The teachers guides students to choose a scene from their story which will be written the first by them
5) The teacher guides again the students to express their idea, beginning from the action. Describe what is happening. A sentence or two about the main action is all you really need.
6) The secondly is feelings. Describe the feelings of the important people in this scene. Feel what they are feeling and why they feel that way.
7) And the last is setting. Tell where and when this taking place, also include a detail or two that tells something interesting about what led up to this situation.
8) The teacher gives time to finish.
9) The teacher and the students together check the exercise
10) The teacher gives feedback for the students.\textsuperscript{42}

L. Problems in Teaching and Learning Recount Text

1. Teacher’s Problems in Teaching Writing

Teaching or learning how to write successfully gets even more complicated and challenged for both language teachers and students. However, many teachers agree that in the classroom, writing should get much attention as reading, speaking, and listening. Many teachers consider writing becomes most difficult subject of language skill to be taught. According to Harmer, teaching writing is more than just dealing with feature. It is about helping students to communicate real message in appropriate manner. Teacher and students need to know how it talks about language at various points during learning and teaching.\textsuperscript{43} It means that the teacher should know to make students easily to understand writing well.

However, there are some six problems that explained by Thakur, they are: a. Over-Crowded classes, b. Lack of Component teacher, c. Faulty methods of teaching, d. Non-availability of good book text-books, e. Apathy to new techniques and procedures, f. Inaduicate provision of teaching aids. Those can be described as follows:

\begin{itemize}
\item Marriam Webster,http://www.merriam.com//actionfeelingssetting \end{itemize}
a. Over-crowded class: Teachers of English experience a lot of problems in handling such as big class. It is difficult to pay due attention to individual students and it is very much desirable in English classroom.

b. Lack of competent teacher: Incompetent teachers are the main source of trouble as far as teaching of English in school. They are either trained in old methods and have never cared to look for something better in new techniques or there are those who receive new insight but never apply their knowledge to actual teaching work and remain satisfied with routine methods. Sometimes, English is taught by those who did not offer the subject while under training.

c. Faulty methods of teaching: Teaching of English suffers from the faulty methods of teaching. In most of the school, the translation method is the sole favorite with teachers. The teacher picks up the reader, translates the paragraph, writes the meanings of difficult words on the blackboard and assigns some homework and that is all. No attention is ever paid to pronunciation practice, listening comprehension and structure practice so that when they pass out, they are as ignorant as they first entered the English class.

d. Non-availability of good text-books: The text books of English used in school are sub-standard. The books are edited or written by those who are not actual practicing teachers. No effort is made to select beforehand graded vocabulary for use in the text books.

e. Apathy to New Techniques and Procedure: Most of the teachers working in middle and high school are both ignorant and apathetic to the new techniques and procedures of teaching of English. The new generation of teacher is being given training in new methods but the teacher fail miserably when they are actually put on the job.

f. Inadequate Provision of Teaching Aids: a general survey of teaching in school would reveal that most of the teaching is being done without the help of any aid. The teacher of English hardly takes any initiative to prepare even simple charts or flashcard which can greatly help them in teaching their subject well.44

From the explanation above, it can be concluded that some of problems faced by teacher in teaching writing are over-crowded classes, lack of competent teacher, faulty methods of teaching, non-availability of a good text-books, apathy to new techniques and procedure and inadequate provision of teaching aids. All of those problems should be solved to make the teaching process successful in the class.

2. Student’s Problem in Learning Writing

In learning a foreign language, writing plays an important role, it is one component that links the four language skills of speaking, listening, reading, and writing all together. It provides the vital organs and flesh to the language, students should acquire and adequate number of words and should know how to use them accurately in context.45 However in the practice of learning writing in the class, there are some 44 Jyoti Thakur, Challenges and prospects in teaching english, india: Chitkara University, 2013, p. 127-128.

45 Jeremy Harmer, Op Cit, p.153
obstacles which often happen in the process of learning writing. Writing has certain characteristics which seem to make it difficult for students to get grips with. Students in ESL class especially, about the time when students write in English, many for them feel worried and not confidence. Students may experience difficulties in writing for a variety of reasons. In teaching writing where its position as a foreign and second language, when the learners begin to write in English, they will face some problems to write, some problems as follows:

a. In writing, they cannot make the same use of body language, intonation, tone, eye contact, and all the other features which help them to convey meaning when they talk.

b. Very little, of what they write is concerned with the here and now, which is where many young children exist for a lot of time.

c. Many children take a long time to master the skill of writing. They cannot concern in one idea or organizing their sentence structure, even their vocabulary is very limited, if the teachers can occasionally type out a students’ work it really does help those who are struggling with the mechanics of writing.

d. The last, the fact that writing in a foreign language is all too often associated with correcting errors. Hand writing, grammar, spelling, and pronunciation are often given priority over contact. If the teachers try to make children’s writing meaningful from the start, with the emphasis on content, then errors can be gently corrected and re-written in cooperation with the teachers.

The students’ problems means that in learning writing not just writing but it needs organization ideas, linguistics, structure of sentences, and so on. These difficulties may vary in cause, nature, intensity and duration. There are some problems faced by the students in learning writing such as:

a. Capitalization Problem

The capitalization appears that source of this problem is neither from mother tongue nor from L2 interference. Using capital letters correctly is a writing norm which is required in all language. It is a pedagogical problem which can be handled appropriately by professional teachers in schools. However the corpus reveals that many students use capital letters instead of small letters.

b. Punctuation Problem

Punctuation problem may also be the result of inadequate learning or poor teaching. The students use punctuation marks inappropriately. Their writing seems to indicate that these students do not understand how to use the punctuation marks correctly in conveying information accurately and effectively.

Example:

1) Apostrophe for plurals

This mistake is particularly common among foreigners who are learning English as a second language. After all, you would expect native English speakers to know how to form plurals right. The apostrophe is used to form contractions (e.g., it’s time to go) and to indicate possession (e.g., Mary’s car is blue), but never to form plurals.

2) The Comma Splice

When the comma is used to separate independent clauses, there must be a conjunction connecting them. If the conjunction is not there, we have a comma splice. You can fix this mistake by using a period instead of the comma or by adding a coordinating conjunction.

3) Quotation Marks for Emphasis

Quotation marks are mainly used to quote speech, sentence or words. They can also be used to denote irony. They can not be used, however to add emphasis to a word or sentence. It is not rare to find advertisements or promotional flyers carrying this error. If you want to add emphasis to a word, use the boldface type and not the quotation marks.

4) Multiple Punctuation marks

Unless you want to sound like an overly emotional teenager writing on my space, you should limit yourself to one exclamation point, regardless of how excited you might be when writing that sentence. The same applies to question marks and to the ellipsis (which should have only three dots). Also, keep in mind that exclamation points are not used that frequently is business and formal writing. If your text is loaded with them, you probably should review it.

5) Punctuation Outside the Quotation Marks

If you are writing in American English, other punctuation should go inside the quotation marks, even if it is not part of the quotation itself. British English, on the other hand, places punctuation that is not part of the quote sentence outside of the quotation marks.

6) The Missing Comma After Introductory Elements

Sometimes you want to give an introduction or provide a background to a certain sentence. That is fine, but do not forget to place a comma after that introductory element. Notice that an introductory element can be a sentence or a single word.

c. Inexplicitness or Fuzziness

Writing feature which are necessary in order to help the readers to understand the intended meaning were inadequately used. For example, the relationships of elements within and across the sentences were not effectively explained.

d. Poor Organization or Illogical Sequence

Like the problem of inexplicitness, poor organization or illogical sequence may also be said to originate from poor teaching in schools. The problem could be reduced by effective teaching, the creation of a wider reading and writing habit and involvement in discussions and debates.

e. Spelling Problem

This problem can only be minimized but we cannot say with certainly that it can be completely eradicated. It appears that the problem of spelling in writing is a persistent problem which applies even to professional writers, journalists, and academics.

f. Grammatical Errors

The grammatical errors found in the corpus are what Ricards calls intralingual and developmental errors. Intralingual errors are those problems which reflect the general characteristics of the rule learning, faulty generalization, incomplete application of rules and failure to learn conditions under which rules apply. Developmental errors, on the hand, illustrate that learner’s attempt to try to build up hypotheses about the target language from his limited knowledge learnt in schools or naturally acquired.

Based on explanation above, the researcher concludes that the problems in learning writing faced by the students includes capitalization problem, punctuation problem, inexplicitness, poor organization or illogical sequence, spelling problem, and grammatical errors.
CHAPTER III
RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

A. Research design

In this research, the researcher used qualitative method in collecting and analyzing the data. Qualitative research is a research that produces descriptive data in the form of written words or oral from subject and its behavior that can be observed, therefore the goal of the research is an individual understanding and its background completely.\(^1\) Qualitative research is research that involves analyzing and interpreting texts and interviews in order to discover meaningful patterns descriptive of a particular phenomenon.\(^2\) By this qualitative research, the researcher focused on the teaching and learning process through action feeling setting strategy to the eighth grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus.

The type of qualitative research used in this research is focus on description. With the focus on description research, the researcher sorted the data needed based on category. During the research, the researcher is functioned as an observer. The researcher observed teaching and learning process of recount text writing through action feeling setting strategy to the eighth grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus.

action feelings setting strategy and also the students’ activity during the teaching learning process carried by the teacher.

B. Research Subject

The researcher selected the people or participants who know the phenomenon of the problem. The researcher chose the English teacher and the students of the eighth grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus as the subject of the research.

In conducting the research and to get the sample the researcher used purposive sampling technique to choose the participants. According to Arikunto, Purposive sampling technique is sampling technique which is done because some causes, such as the writer has particular purpose toward the sample and the very limited time and funding.³

In this research the researcher chose one English teacher and one class as the sample. For the teacher, the researcher asked the teacher of eighth grade who taught English in the sample class. For the students, the researcher chose VIII C as sample of the research since this class has a big problem with their writing especially recount text writing based on the interview with the teacher. Furthermore, from the pre survey result for recount text writing test, most of the students in class VIII C got the lowest score in recount text writing.

C. Data Collecting Technique

In this research, the researcher used some steps conduct with intention of gaining the data from beginning until the end of teaching learning process. Therefore, in this research, the researcher conducted the observation, interview and questioner to get the data of this research. The steps are follows:

a. Observation

Observation is properly used in the research which related with teaching learning process. Student activity, and problem which may arise.

In this research, the researcher was an observer to get the data, researcher was not involved directly in the classroom activity. The researcher made a note during the teaching learning process. In this case, the researcher only took note, analyzed and made inferences about object under study. The researcher used specification as follow:

b. Interview

Interview is a meeting of two persons to exchange information and idea through question and responses, resulting in communication and joint constraction of meaning about a particular topic.\(^4\)

The interview was used in collecting the data from the teacher. The researcher asked the teacher opinions about the activity in teaching learning process through action feelings setting strategy, the teacher’s problems in teaching recount text through action feelings setting strategy and the students’ problems in learning recount text writing through action feelings setting strategy.

The interview was aimed to make sure about the result of the observation and to get more data related to the research. This technique involved collecting data from the teacher by the researcher. The aim was to make sure about the result of the observation and to find out problems faced by the teacher and students in teaching and learning recount text through action feelings setting strategy. The researcher used specification of interview as follows:

c. Questionnaire

Questionnaire printed from the data including questions or statements to which the subjects are expected to respond. Questionnaire is a method used to get the data by gave question format that limits respondents with a list of answer choices from which they must chose to answer the question. The researcher gave questionnaire to the students in order to know the further opinions and to know the aspects that may influence the students learning process and to confirm the answers given by the teacher. In learning process there were many problems faced by the students in learning writing. The questionnaire appropriated with the students’ difficulties in learning recount text writing and also learning recount text writing especially through action feelings setting strategy.

D. Research Procedure

The procedure of the research used as follows:

1. Finding the subject of the research. The subject was a class of students at the eighth grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus in the Academic Year of 2015/2016, especially class VIIIC along with the English teacher.

2. The researcher did the observation during the instruction and took some notes to all important events, the observation as follows:
   a. The object of the observation were the students teacher at the Eighth Grade of SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus.
b. The time of the observation was done at the second semester of in the Academic Year of 2015/2016.

c. Duration of the observation was until the researcher got the result of the research.

d. The purpose of the observation was to found the result and data in this research.

3. The researcher interviewed the teacher after the process of teaching learning.

4. The researcher gave the questionnaire to the students about their problems in learning recount text writing.

5. The researcher analyzed the notes of the observation, interview and questionnaire.

6. The researcher reported the result of the data analysis to induce the research finding.

E. Data Trustworthiness

In qualitative research, the researcher had to reveal the data as the real life of the subject. This qualitative research used some methodologies to keep the validity of the data in order to have more accurate conclusion. To make the data valid, triangulation was employed. According to Setiyadi, triangulation is the combination of two methods or more in collecting the data about the attitude of the subject of the research, because the attitude of human being is quite complex, the use of single method in collecting the qualitative data is often considered not enough. There are 6 kinds of triangulation, there are:\(^6\)

a. Triangulation of time. Triangulation of time has two forms, there are cross-sectional and longitudinal. In cross-sectional, data collection carried out in the same time with the different group but in the longitudinal, data collection carried out from the same group with different time.

b. Triangulation of place. In triangulation of place to make the data collection more accurate, it can be done using different place for similar data.

c. Triangulation of theory, in triangulation of theory, data collection is collected based on different theory or by analyzing the same data with different theory.

d. Triangulation of method, in triangulation of method the writer use different method for collecting similar data.

e. Researcher triangulation. In researcher triangulation, for collecting the same data it is done by some people.

f. Triangulation of methodology. In triangulation of methodology, the data collected from the same learning process with different approach, namely qualitative and quantitative so the writer collect the both of data from those approach.

In this research, the researcher used triangulation of method and time. In triangulation method, the researcher used three data collecting techniques, and they were: observation, questionnaire, and interview. The observation is focused on the teaching and learning recount text writing at the second semester of the eighth grade at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus with the theme bad experience and good experience. The interview conducted towards the teacher to get the data which could be used to make sure about result of observation. The questionnaire was done towards the students to find out students problems in learning recount text writing through action feeling setting strategy. In triangulation of time, the researcher used longitudinal triangulation, because the researcher collected the data from the same group at different times.

\(^6\) Ibid.p.246

By applying these triangulation techniques, the researcher expected the result of this research to be consistent for the data because the data was collected more than one time data source.

F. Data Analysis

Data analysis is the process of organizing the data in order to obtain regularity of the pattern of form of the research. According to Miles and Huberman there are three major phases of data analysis: data reduction, data display, and conclusion drawing or verification.\(^7\)

1. Data Reduction

The reduction of the data in this research means as process of selecting, abstracting, and simplify the data gained from the note of the interview and observation. Then this summary will be analyzed to seek the important information, group the data, and the which are needed and arrange the data to the proper format so that they give meaningful result and conclusion.

2. Data Display

The next stage is to display the data from the result of the data reduction. The information gained from observation, interview, and questionnaire would be gathered and organized according to the research focus. From this display, the next conclusion and verification of the data will be applied.

3. Conclusion Drawing/Verification

The last step of analyzing data is conclusion drawing. Conclusion drawing involved stepping back to consider what the analyzed data mean to assess their implication for the questions at hand. Verification is linked to conclusion drawing, entitled revising the data as many times as necessary to cross-check or verified these emergent conclusions. Verification referred to the process which is able to explain the answer of research questions and research objectives. In this step, the researcher will avoid any one-sided impression and stay openly, so that the conclusion of the research would be clear, explicit, and grounded.8

CHAPTER IV
RESULT AND DISCUSSION

In this chapter, the researcher explained about data analysis, discussion and research finding.

A. Data Analysis

The research had been conducted at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus at the eighth grade from February 24th 2016 Up to March 2nd 2016. In this research, the researcher included date or planned schedule of work as follows:

1. On April 20th, researcher conducted the preliminary research at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus

2. On February 23rd, the researcher met the English teachers to discuss the lesson plan and Strategy to be used and also ask about time schedule of English class.

3. On February 24th, the researcher met the headmaster got permission to do research at SMP Negeri 1 Semaka Tanggamus

4. On February 27th, the researcher conducted the observation in the class.

5. On February 29th, the researcher conducted the observation in the class and gave the questionnaire to the students in the class.

6. On March 1st, the researcher conducted the interview to the English teacher.
After collecting the data, the researcher analyzed the data which were collected from observation, interview, and questionnaire. According to Miles and Huberman, there are three major phrases of data analysis, they are: data reduction, data display, and conclusion drawing or verification.¹

1. Data Reduction

Data reduction refers to the process of selecting, focusing, simplifying, abstracting and transforming the data that appear in written up field notes or transcriptions. In data reduction the mass of data has to be organized and meaningfully reduced or reconfigured.² In this case, the researcher selected data that using in this research. There were three instruments used to collecting the data: observation, interview, and questionnaire.

a. Whole Data

In the whole data, the researcher provided all of the result of process in teaching and learning recount text writing through Action Feelings Setting strategy, teacher’s problems and students’ problem in teaching and learning recount text writing through Action Feelings Setting strategy based on the research collected by using observation, interview and questionnaire as instruments. The process of teaching and learning recount text writing through Action Feelings Setting strategy would be explained based on the result of observation. In other hand, the teachers’ problem in teaching recount text writing through Action Feelings Setting strategy would be explained based on the result of observation and interview. Moreover, the students’ problem would be explained based on the result of observation and questionnaire.

²Ibid, p.10

1) The Process of Teaching and Learning Recount Text Writing Through Action Feelings Setting Strategy

The researcher employed an observation (see appendix 3). The observation was conducted to know the process of teaching and learning recount text writing through Action Feelings Setting strategy which was conducted in two meetings. Every meeting has the same activities and the same material, but different theme. In the first meeting, the teacher conducted pre-activity, main-activity and close-activity. For the second meeting was the continuation from the first meeting. The researcher observed the process of teaching and learning recount text writing through Action Feelings Setting strategy. The result of observation has been identified as described below.

In the first meeting the processes of teaching learning by using Action Feelings Setting strategy were as follows:

a. Pre-activity

The first meeting was held on February, 27th 2016 at 07.30 to 09.00 a.m, before teaching learning was done, teacher had prepared the materials. the class was opened with greeting that was responded by all students. Some of them responded loudly to show their enthusiasm and few of them responded calmly. After that the teacher checked students’ attendant list by calling the students one by one built good relationship with the students by giving motivation for the students before starting the lesson. She reviewed the last lesson and built students’ knowledge about the lesson.

b. While Activity

The teacher explained how to write a recount text. Before writing a recount text, teacher has to explain generic structure of recount text (Orientation, Events, and Reorientation).

The teacher applied AFS strategy in teaching and learning. In this while activity, teacher gave example of action feelings setting. After introducing some vocabularies, the teacher guided the students to make text about action feelings setting that would they told. For the example told about good experience. Before told about good experience, the teacher asked the students to think of their good experience. They were going to told it. Then, asked the students to mention everything about their experience. Many students mention about their experience. But, the teacher chose mention about my first holiday in lembah hijau. The teacher drew what the students’ state. For example: “my first holiday in lembah hijau”, the teacher gave explanation about AFS. What’s about action, feelings and setting. For action the teacher asked students what they did when holiday in lembah hijau. Feelings, what they felt when they did action, and setting is place where they did activity and felt about the activity.
When the teacher has finished giving all explanation, the teacher helped students to think sentence based on AFS.

For example:

Teacher : What is your good experience class?
Students : my first holiday in Lembah Hijau
Teacher : oke, what did you do, what did you feel and where? Based on your experience please make sentence about it.

Furthermore, the teacher guided students to make picture in their mind. What did they do, how did they feel, and where did they. Then, the teacher guides the students to combine and arrange the sentence be good recount text. The teacher gave time the students to finish. Then, the teacher guided the students to edit and revise the text.

c. Post- Activity

This activity was done at the end of the lesson which can be in the form of summarizing, evaluating, reflecting, and following up activities. The teacher checked students’ understanding about the lesson. Then the teacher gave an assignment to the students. In this stage, the teacher guided the students to make conclusion about the material that they learn. In order to make students more competent in doing this strategy, they can be asked to do the same things outside the class. They can choose the theme that interesting for them. Then, the teacher closed the lesson.

In the second meeting the processes of teaching learning by using Action Feelings Setting strategy were as follows:
a. Pre-activity

The second meeting was held on November, 29th 2016 at 09.00 to 11.30 a.m, the activities were not too different from the first session. In this research, the teacher tried to change in the teaching learning process to make the students more interest about the lesson. Firstly, the teacher greeted the students and checked the attendance list. The teacher reviewed the previous lesson.

b. While Activity

In the while activity, the teacher reviewed and reminded about last material. The students continue made recount text through action feelings setting strategy. But, in this meeting the teacher gave different theme. The teacher asked the students made recount text with the theme bad experience. The teacher asked students to mention about their bad experience. They were enthusiasm to mention their experience. But the teacher chose which one bad experience about “fall down from motorcycle”. Same with the steps before, the teacher drew the students’ state. The teacher explained about what the students were needed to make text recount through action feelings setting strategy. The teacher guided the students to arrange sentence about part of AFS. Then, the teacher gave the time for students to completed text become recount text. Then, the teacher and the students checked the text. The teacher checked students’ understanding by randomly the students’ and asked them to explain their story. These activities have function to found some error in text, such as the tenses use, the social function and so on.

Teacher’s problems

Teacher considers how close they want to be to the students they are working with.

Teacher works with students is matter appropriacy.

Teacher tends to spend most of their class time in one place at the front of that class, for example, or to the side, or in the middle.

Teacher has to be aware of what students are going and, where possible, how they are feeling.

Teacher tries to get this balance between audibility and volume just right.

Teacher varies the quality of their voice and the volume they speak at depending on the type of lesson and the type of activity.

Students’ problems

In writing, they cannot make the same use of body language, intonation, tone, eye contact, and all the other features which help them to convey meaning when they talk.

Very little, of what they write is concerned with the here and now, which is where many young children exist for a lot of time.

They cannot concern in one idea or organizing their sentence structure, event their vocabulary is very limited, if the teachers can occasionally type out a students’ work it really does help those who are struggling with the mechanics of writing.
Hand writing, grammar, spelling and pronunciation are often given priority over content. If the teachers try to make children’s writing meaningful from the start, with the emphasis on content, then errors can be gently corrected and re-written in cooperation with the teachers.

Using capital letters correctly is a writing norm which is required in all language. Punctuation problem may also be the result of inadequate learning or poor teaching. The students use punctuation mark. Inappropriately.

Inexplicitness or fuzziness, writing features which are necessary in order to help the readers to understand the intended meaning was inadequately used.

Poor organization or illogical sequence of paragraph.

   Last week my friend and I were bored after three weeks of holidays, so we rode our bikes to Pasir Kencana Beach, which is only five kilometres from where I live. When we arrived at the beach, we were surprised to see there was hardly anyone there.

   Events
   After having a quick dip in the ocean, which was really cold, we realized one reason there were not many people there. It was also quite windy. After we bought some hot chips at the takeaway store nearby, we rode our bikes down the beach for a while, on the hard, damp part of the sand. We had the wind behind us and, before we knew it, we were many miles down the beach.

   Before we made the long trip back, we decided to paddle our feet in the water for a while, and then sit down for a rest. While we were sitting on the beach, just chatting, it suddenly dawned on us that all the way back, we would be riding into the strong wind.

   Re-orientation
   When we finally made it back home, we were both totally exhausted! But we learned some good lessons that day.

   Orientation

   One day, when I was ten years old, my father bought an old motorcycle. That was “Honda 75”. I think it was small light object and easy to ride it. I persuaded my father to teach me to ride “Honda 75”. Firstly, my father refused my request and promised that he would teach me two or three years later, but I still whimpered. Finally, my father surrendered and promised to teach me.

   He began to teach me riding the motorcycle around a field in my village. My father was very patient to give me some directions. I was very happy when I realized my ability to ride motorcycle.” Yes, I can”

   Events

   One day later, when I was alone at home, I intended to try my riding ability. So, myself tried bravely. All ran fluently in the beginning, but when I was going back to my home and I passed through a narrow slippery street, I got nervous. I lost my control and I fell to the ditch.

   After that, I told my father about the last accident. I imagined my father would be angry and never let me ride again. But the reality is exactly on the contrary, my father was very proud of me. He just gave me some advices and since that accident, I got my father’s permission to ride motorcycle.
