ABSTRACT

THE INFLUENCE OF USING FLOWER WRITING STRATEGY TOWARDS STUDENTS' WRITING ABILITY IN DESCRIPTIVE TEXT

By
Mayang Dwi Safitri

The objective of this research was to know whether there was significant influence of using Flower Writing Strategy towards students' writing ability on descriptive text. Writing ability is a skill to got ideas or opinion in written form with correct structure of language. The research methodology of this research was quasi experimental design. In this research, the population was the seventh grade of SMPN 2 Pardasuka which consisted of 71 students in 3 classes. The sample of this research was two classes which consisted of 46 students for experimental class and control class. In the experimental class, the researcher used Flower Writing Strategy, and in the control class the researcher used Groupwork Strategy. In collecting the data, the researcher used instrument in the form of writing test in form of descriptive text. The instrument was given in pre-test and post-test. Before giving the treatment, the researcher gave pre-test for both classes. Then, after conducting the treatments, the instrument was given in post-test. After giving pre-test and post-test, the researcher analyzed the data using SPSS to compute the data. This resrach used Wilcoxon test by using SPSS because the data in experimental class and control class do not have normal distribution. And the researcher used test nonparametric Wilcoxon, it was obtained that $Sig. = .001$ and $\alpha = 0.05$. It means H_a was accepted because $Sig. < \alpha = .001 < 0.05$. Therefore, there was different between the result of writing ability by using Flower Writing Strategy and Group Work Strategy which means there was an influence of using Flower Writing Strategy towards Students Writing ability of the Seventh Grade of SMPN 2 Pardasuka in the Academic Year of 2022/2023.

ABSTRAK

PENGARUH PENGGUNAAN STRATEGI MENULIS BUNGA TERHADAP KEMAMPUAN MENULIS SISWA PADA TEKS DESKRIPTIF

By

Tujuan dari penelitian ini adalah untuk mengetahui apakah terdapat pengaruh yang signifikan penggunaan Strategi Menulis Bunga terhadap kemampuan menulis siswa pada teks deskriptif. Kemampuan menulis adalah suatu keterampilan untuk memperoleh ide atau pendapat dalam bentuk tulisan dengan struktur bahasa yang benar. Metodologi penelitian dalam penelitian ini adalah quasi eksperimen design. Populasi dalam penelitian ini adalah siswa kelas VII SMPN 2 Pardasuka yang terdiri dari 71 siswa dalam 3 kelas. Sampel penelitian ini adalah dua kelas yang terdiri dari 46 siswa untuk kelas eksperimen dan kelas kontrol. Di kelas eksperimen, peneliti menggunakan Strategi Menulis Bunga, dan di kelas kontrol peneliti menggunakan Strategi Kerja Kelompok. Dalam mengumpulkan data, peneliti menggunakan instrumen berupa tes menulis berbentuk teks deskriptif. Instrumen diberikan dalam pre-test dan post-test. Sebelum memberikan perlakuan, peneliti memberikan pre-test untuk kedua kelas. Kemudian, setelah melakukan perlakuan, instrumen diberikan dalam post-test. Setelah memberikan pre-test dan post-test, peneliti menganalisis data menggunakan SPSS untuk menghitung data. Penelitian ini menggunakan uji Wilcoxon dengan menggunakan SPSS karena data pada kelas eksperimen dan kelas kontrol tidak berdistribusi normal. Dan peneliti menggunakan uji non parametik Wilcoxon, diperoleh Sig. = 0,001 dan $\alpha = 0,05$. Artinya H_0 diterima karena Sig. $< \alpha = 0,001 < 0,05$. Oleh karena itu terdapat perbedaan antara hasil kemampuan menulis dengan menggunakan Strategi Menulis Bunga dan Strategi Kerja Kelompok yang artinya ada pengaruh penggunaan Strategi Menulis Bunga terhadap Kemampuan Menulis Siswa Kelas VII SMPN 2 Pardasuka Tahun Pelajaran 2022/2023.

Kata Kunci: Teks Deskriptif, Strategi Menulis Bunga, Kemampuan Menulis.

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

A. Title Confirmation

Confirmation of the title in this proposal intended to provide a brief explanation of the main title in the proposal, which aims to avoid misunderstandings related to the main title of the proposal.

Influence is something that effect a person, thing, and another thing to experience a change. Which can come from someone around him or objects that can have a positive or negative influence to change a situation.

Flower writing strategy is a writing strategy in the form of a simple flower chart. The graph takes part in writing activities such as the main idea, which is then followed by supporting sentences from the main idea.

Writing is one of the learning applied in education, not only, so writing is an activity that someone does to convey an idea in someone. Writing ability is the ability of a person to express, develop, and produce an idea in written form. Writing ability is very complex where one must be able to provide a lot of vocabulary mastery, develop ideas perfectly and arrange a strategy so that readers can clearly receive the written information.

Descriptive text is one type of text that aims to explain or describe in more detail related to the main subject being discussed. The purpose of descriptive text is to describe an object in the form of an object, a animals, a person, a job, and others which aims to provide information to the reader.

On the basis o the explanation above, it can be concluded that the researcher conducted a study on “The Influence of Using Flower Writing Strategy towards Students' Writing Ability in Descriptive Text.”

B. Background of the Problem

Writing is one aspect of language that is very influential in learning. Writing activities are not only used as an aspect of language but can make writing a separate characteristic that can lead to a positive activity for people who do it. Writing is an action taken by someone to produce real information for someone who reads the text. Writing activities can be used as a hobby because of a certain basis that makes someone like these activities in expressing ideas or opinions through tangible forms. As said by Hyland “writing is a way of sharing personal meanings and writing courses emphasize the power of the individual to construct his or her views on a topic”.¹ Meaning that writing is one aspect of language in communication, which is the way to get information or obtain information in a written form about the topic discussed. Therefore, writing is a form of communication in real or written form.

However, writing activities require a person to develop an idea of what he wants to convey so that they can produce a written work. In learning activities, writing is considered an activity that is not easy because someone has to develop ideas from specific topics. That's what makes a problem in writing activities. Therefore in the learning process, a teacher is expected to have new strategies to create a pleasant atmosphere in order to make it easier for a student to convey ideas into writing. In the opinion of Nunan, “Writing is the mental work of inventing ideas, thinking about how to express them, and organizing them into statements and paragraphs that will be clear to a reader”.² This implies that writing is an activity carried out by a person in conveying his ideas so that he conveys his aspirations through writing. Not spared from global developments, writing has become a study that is in great demand by researchers on various types of writing. As the result, there are many things that must be considered in writing activities, and conveying ideas related to a topic must have appropriate elements in writing. So that in an article it can be easier to understand.

² David Nunan, Practice English Language Teaching (New York: McGraw-Hill/Contemporary, 2003), 88.

Writing is an activity that has been carried out since an early age, where learning to write trains a person to be able to convey ideas that are in accordance with the theme or even writing activities are used as a hobby in conveying one's feelings about what is being experienced. As claimed by Erkan "Writing is a complex process as it is one of the necessary skills to generate the symbols and signs required to express our emotions and thoughts".³ It means that writing is a difficult activity, where in the process of conveying ideas it must be appropriate and can provide its own understanding to the reader by going through certain codes when delivering information. As stated by Sarah "Writing is seen not just as a standardized system of communication but also as an essential tool for learning".⁴ It can be concluded that writing is one of the skills used to communicate in the form of a work or an action. Writing can train a person's ability to be able to convey ideas or ideas in a more attractive manner and with different styles of delivery. In conclusion, writing is a complex activity that can be done by anyone in the delivery of information, related to a feeling that is being experienced or as an activity in a learning process.

There are many difficulties experienced by someone in writing, especially writing in English. Parisa said, "Writing is considered as a challenge which many foreign/second language learners face. It is important component not only in education, but also in life especially for those people who do not know how to express their feelings verbally, thus they use words and letters to translate their feelings, ideas, and thoughts."⁵ This indicates that writing is one of the lessons that involve a necessity in developing an idea, especially in learning foreign languages such as English.

³ Erkan Cer, "The Instruction of Writing Strategies: The Effect of the Metacognitive Strategy on The Writing Skills of Pupils in Secondary Education," Journals Sage, 9 (2019): 1-17, <https://doi.org/10.1177/2158244019842681>.

In the education system, writing lessons is an important aspect because someone can express his feelings or share opinions and develop other ideas in a written form. In writing, symbols, letters, and words are applied to describe the expression of one's ideas. The opinion of Septandira, "Writing is the stage where the writer starts developing the ideas into sentences and paragraph. In this stage, writers' ability to deliver and organize the ideas and this consideration in choosing the words used in the texts are very important to produce texts that the readers can easily understand."⁶ This means that writing is the first step where someone can share opinions and develop simple ideas in a structured manner so that they become a sentence and also a simple, complete essay that aims to be more understandable by the reader. Therefore, the learning process in writing activities is not an easy thing. Especially learning in English, one must be able to develop the main idea into an English paragraph, and must also pay attention to aspects that are in accordance with the rules of writing.

There are many reasons why someone has difficulty in doing writing activities. Some problem could be found in writing text, the students who rarely write in English always face some difficulties when their teacher asked them to write down their ideas, thoughts or experience.⁷ As meaning that, writing is not an easy thing to do, especially writing an essay on a specific topic. One must be able to develop thoughts and ideas related to the specified topic. Writing in English, which is known that English is a second language for specific countries, that's what makes one of the problems in writing activities for students is that it is difficult to develop ideas related to the topic of an article.

Writing also becomes the most difficult skill, particularly in English Education, which through complex processes that engages several competencies. Also, students at the university experienced various obstacles in their processes of writing. The obstacles such as vocabulary and diction, grammatical features, exploring and generating ideas, organization and teaching process.⁸ Writing is an activity in learning with a fairly high level of difficulty. Even at the level of education for students, a student still has a level of difficulty in writing activities according to a predetermined topic at the college level. Some things that become problems in writing activities, especially writing in English, such as lack of mastered vocabulary, poor grammar levels, limitations in developing ideas, and in the learning process itself, which results in difficulties in learning English writing activities.

The students and teachers delineated several problems in the writing of undergraduate ESL learners. They agreed that ESL learners lack knowledge of appropriate vocabulary, learners also have difficulties in grammar and syntax. They make mistakes in subject-verb agreement, pronouns, tenses, articles, prepositions and basic sentence structures. Additionally, lack of ideas affect learners' writing skill.⁹ It means that it is known that a foreign language or a second language is not easy to learn for someone. Some of the problems faced by some people in writing activities are as follows, lack of ability in mastering vocabulary, grammar errors, and lack of ideas in developing a predetermined writing topic.

In the learning process requires a strategy that can support the learning that will be carried out, and the flower writing strategy is a strategy that provides creativity to students in conveying ideas in written form. Flower writing strategy is a strategy that can be used in teaching writing. Flower writing strategy uses a graph like a flower which has topic and supporting details to help the students explore their ideas into paragraph.¹⁰ In other words flower writing strategy is a strategy in learning to write, which can be used by educators in achieving successful writing learning goals. By using a simple floral graphic, which gives the impression of being attractive and easy to understand, it involves the main sentences and other supporting sentences. It is hoped that in this learning strategy, students are more able to develop ideas or ideas on a topic to produce a perfect writing essay.

Strategies in learning must be well defined by a teacher, because in the learning process requires achievement in accordance with the specified criteria. In the opinion of Kasmairi "Flower Writing was a writing strategy in which the central (main) idea was written first, followed by the information that surrounded it".¹¹ It indicates that, learning to write is one of the essential things in education, especially learning to write, which requires students to convey ideas in an article. In the learning English, there are still obstacles experienced by students in writing activities, such as vocabulary and difficulty in developing ideas. Therefore, teachers must have strategies that can influence students to participate in learning activities properly. The flower writing strategy is one of the strategies in learning to write that can provide creativity to students. A flower-shaped graph with the main idea written in the flower's core, followed by supporting sentences written on the flower petals so that it makes writing activities in a flower graph, which provides its creativity.

At the junior high school education, English is one of the lessons that are required in academic units. Therefore, the researcher conducted a pre-research in one of the junior high schools in Pringsewu, namely SMPN 2 Pardasuka. The researcher interviewed with the 7th grade English teacher Mr. Muhtaridi, S.Pd.I about students' ability to participate in learning English in writing activities. In the seventh grade, students was studied material about descriptive text. Based on the pre-research the material studied in the seventh grade is descriptive text about animals and the syllabus used by the teacher in the learning process about descriptive text animals. Therefore, the researcher used material about descriptive text animal in this research. The level of students' ability to learn English is still very low, especially in writing activities. Many things are a factor in the lack of students' writing skills, one of which are the lack of ability to develop ideas in writing, the lack of vocabulary, and the lack of more active learning strategies to increase students' enthusiasm for learning.

Source: Data score of Students' Writing score of the Seventh Grade at the first semester of SMP N 2 Pardasuka in the Academic Year 2022/2023¹²

In reference to data above, the mean score determined from the class VII A, VII B, VIIC are 62. From the class VII A, VII B, VII C students who have a scoree less than 62 are 43 students. And for the students who have score more than or equal to 62 are 28 students. From these data, it can be concluded that the ability of students in learning English is still very lacking, and the learning strategies used are still not right. Mr. Muhtaridi says that the students have difficulty in developing ideas according to a predetermined theme. As well as the lack of mastery of the vocabulary they have, and the lack of motivation in writing activities makes the students less mastered in learning writing.

Graounded on the explanation above, the researcher can conclude that in teaching and learning process, a teacher must be able to provide appropriate learning strategies to attract students to take part in learning to write in English. The use of good strategies or methods in the teaching and learning process is needed to help improve students' writing abilities, students will be more relaxed in learning and able to provide creativity to students to be able to develop topic ideas in learning better. The students will feel that learning is not only focused on material but they can also develop their ways and ideas through the strategies used.

From the explanation above, the researcher wants to focus on writing ability on descriptive text. The researcher feels interested to conduct a research under the title "The Influence of Using Flower Writing Strategy Towards Students' Writing Ability in Descriptive Text. Moreover, some researchers hae done their research by using flower writing strategy. The first research comes from Nur Eva with entiled "The Effectiveness of Using Flower Writing Strategy in Teaching Writing Descriptive Text for Tenth Grade Students at Madrasah Aliyah Negeri (MAN) Tarakan". The objective of this research was to describe whether or not the use of flower writing strategy was effective in improving the students' writing achievment in learning English as a foreign language.¹³ The second research comes from Madu Sri Anggoro Wati with

The third research comes from Maya Ainul Hayati with entitled “Improving Students’ Writing Ability by Using Flower Writing Strategy”. The objective of this research was to describe whether or not the use of flower writing strategy was effective in improving the students’ writing achievement in learning English as a foreign language.¹⁵ The fourth research comes from Iseu Lilis Hendrayani with entitled “Effect of Flower Writing Strategy on Writing Skills of Fable Story Text in MTS Students”. This study aims to describe the effect of using flower Writing strategy on the writing skills of the eighth grade students of MTS Persis 50 Lembang.¹⁶ The last research comes from Yuliana and Rachmanita entitled “Applying Flower Writing Strategy to the Tenth Grades in Writing Descriptive Text”. This study aimed to find out whether or not the Flower Writing Strategy was effective to be used in teaching writing descriptive text.¹⁷

There are similarities among fifth previous researches above with this research, all the researchers used the same strategy in the learning process namely Flower Writing Strategy. And then there are differences among fifth previouses with this research, the first previous research focused to determining levels of the learners' skill for writing a descriptive text that saw from language features of the text then conducting on the Islamic Senior High School. The second previous research focused on comparison in the learning to write between Quick Write and Flower Writing Strategy. The third previous research focused on how to improve students writing skill by using flower writing strategy with design Classroom Action Research (CAR). The fourth previous research focused on how to improve students writing skill in Fable Story Text. The fifth previous research focused on how to improve students writing skill in descriptive text conducting on the Senior High School.

In this research focus on how to improve the writing ability on descriptive text, by using flower writing strategy. When using the creative strategy in teaching learning process it can be a new innovation to attract students in learning English, especially in writing. In creating the active and interactive class, the teacher needs innovation to teaching learning process. Based on the explanation above, the researcher interested in discussing this case under the title "The Influence of Using Flower Writing Strategy Towards Students' Writing Ability in Decriptive Text".

C. Identification and Limitation of the Problem

Based on the background above, the problems experienced by students in writing could be identified as follows :

1. The students have problem in finding ideas to write
2. The students have lacked of vocabulary in the English learning, especially in writing Decriptive text animals
3. The flower writing strategy has never been used in the English learning proses at the SMP Negeri 2 Pardasuka.

From the identification of those problems, the researcher focuses on the influence of using flower writing strategy on students' writing ability. The subject in this research was students' writing ability that was write about descriptive text animals which focused on the seventh graders.

D. Formulation of the Problem

Based on the identification and limitation of the problem, the researcher formulated the problem as follows : is there any influence of using flower writing strategy towards students' writing ability in descriptive text?

E. Objective of the Research

Related to the formulation of the problem, the objectives of the research is to determine whether there is an influence of using flower writing strategy towards students' writing ability in descriptive text.

F. Significant of the Research

There are significances that can be acquired from this research:

1. Theoretically

The research is expected that this research will be increase to knowledge that using flower wriing strategy can make teaching and learning process more effective and the class active.

2. Practically

The research is expected to be used :

a. For students

This research is expected to help improve students' writing ability

b. For teachers

This research is expected that flower writing strategy can be an effective in teaching and learning process of writing

c. For further researcher

This research can be used by other researchers as a reference with the same study.

G. Relevant Research

Moreover, some previous researchers who were relevants in this research as follows, the first research comes from Nur Eva with entitled "The Effectiveness of Using Flower Writing Strategy in Teaching Writing Descriptive Text for Tenth Grade Students at Madrasah Aliyah Negeri (MAN) Tarakan". The objective of this research was to find out whether there was any significant difference on students before and after using flower writing strategy as the strategy in teaching writing at the tenth grade students of MAN Tarakan. This research used pre experimental design and tenth grade students at MAN Tarakan as the populations. The numbers of sample in this research were 40 students which were chosen by using purposive sampling technique. X MIA become the only class that was being as the example. It consisted of 40 students. There were three steps in this research namely pretest, treatment and posttest. In pretest, the students were asked to write a descriptive text related to friend, famous person, or family. After pretest, the researcher gave treatment. The treatment class was taught by using flower writing strategy as strategy. After giving the treatment, students were asked to write descriptive text related to friend, famous person, or family again in the posttest. From both of the result it can be concluded that there was significant different between pretest and posttest in writing descriptive text after the treatment that was given by the researcher and flower writing strategy as strategy was effective in teaching writing descriptive text..¹⁸

The second research comes from Madu Sri Anggoro Wati with entitled "A Comparative Study Between Quick Write and Flower Writing Strategies toward Writing Skills of the Seventh Grade Students of MTS N 1 Salatiga in the Academic Year Of 2019/2020". This research was intended to find out the comparative study or significant difference of using quick write and flower writing strategies toward writing skills of the seventh grade students of MTs N 1 Salatiga in the academic year of 2019/2020. The subject of this research was the class VII D and VII E of MTs N 1 Salatiga. This research was true experimental research. The population of this study was the seventh grade students at MTs N 1 Salatiga that consist of 334 students. The sample was 63 students chosen through random sampling technique and classified into two classes; experiment and control class. The instrument for collecting data was tests which were given at the beginning and the last meeting after the treatment. The data of pre-test and post-test were analyzed by using ttest. At the end this study, the researcher took conclusion as follows: after analyzing data, (1) the mean of the students' scores in writing descriptive text who was taught by using quick write strategy was 73.47, with the highest score was 85 and the lowest score was 60. The mean of students' scores in writing descriptive text who was taught by using flower writing strategy was 78.87, with the highest score was 90 and the lowest score was 69. There is difference $M_a (78.87) > M_b (73.47)$, it showed that the teaching learning activity by using flower writing strategy was more effective to increase the students' skills in writing descriptive text than Quick write strategy. (2) Based on independent sample t-test result $p\text{-value (2 tailed)} = 0.000$ in the post-test less than $\alpha = 0.05$ and gained scores $p\text{-value (0.001)}$ is less than $\alpha = 0.05$ (5%). There is significance difference of ttest ($3.840 > t_{table} (0.2480)$). It showed that ttest was in null hypothesis rejection (H_0). Thus, alternative Hypothesis (H_a) was accepted. Its mean the hypothesis which the researcher proposed that there was significant difference of using quick write strategy and using flower writing strategy toward students' writing skills in writing descriptive text was acceptable.¹⁹

The third research comes from Maya Ainul Hayati entitled "Improving Students' Writing Ability by Using Flower Writing Strategy". The objective of this research was to describe wheter or not the use of flower writing strategy was effective in improving the students' writing achievement in learning English as a foreign language. This research was classroom action research. The subject of this research were 20 students, consists of females. The instrument of this research were writing test, observation, field notes, interview, and documentation. This research was conducted in two cycles, namely cycle I, and cycle II. The results of the student's writing test showed that the number of subjects that passed ($KKM \geq 70$) there was an improvement from 58,35 in pre-assessment, 63,94 in cycle I, and 78,15 in cycle II. Non test data showed that Flower Writing Strategy helped students in developed their ideas, helped teacher in controlling, guiding, and helped students to improved their interest, attention, and partisipation. Thus researcher concluded Flower Writing Strategy to improve students writing ability.²⁰

The fourth research comes from Iseu Lilis Hendrayani entiled “Effect of Flower Writing Strategy on Writing Skills of Fable Story Text in MTS Students”. This study aims to describe the effect of using the flower writing strategy on the writing skills of the eighth grade students of MTS Persis 50 Lembang. The data of this research is in the form of a score of writing skills for fable stories without and using mind mapping techniques. This type of research is quantitative research conducted using an experimental design. The results of this study are that the skills of writing fable texts for class VIII MTS Persis 50 Lembang students do not use mind mapping techniques but still have more than adequate qualifications and the skills of writing fable texts for class VIII MTS Persis 50 Lembang students using flower writing strategies are good qualifications. Based on the t-test, it was concluded that the use of flower writing strategy had an effect on the writing skill of the fable text.²¹

The last research comes from Yuliana and Rachmanita entiled “Applying Flower Writing Strategy to the Tenth Grades in Writing Descriptive Text”. Writing is regarded as a challenging subject in school. At the same time, it was a critical skill for students to master because it is so important in this age of globalization. This study aimed to find out whether or not the Flower Writing Strategy was effective to be used in teaching writing descriptive text. The quasi-experimental method was used in this study. The sample of the study was 68 students taken by using the purposive sampling technique. The data was gained by using a written test. The data were analyzed by using a t-test. Based on the result of the independent sample t-test, it was found that t -obtained (3.439) was higher than t_{table} (1.9955) and p -value (0.001) was less than α -value (0.05). It meant that the null hypothesis (H_0) was rejected and alternative hypothesis (H_a) were accepted. Hence, Flower Writing Strategy was effective to be used in teaching descriptive text.²²

FRAME OF THEORY AND HYPOTHESIS

A. Theories

1. Writing

a. Definition of writing

Writing is one of the aspects of language skills, such as listening, speaking, reading and writing. As said by Batubara “Writing is the parlance skill used to communicate with the reader to express things and feelings in written form to make the readers understand, and they can experience the things and feel conveyed in the text”.²³ Meaning that communication activities cant not be separated from language elements, where a language has its own meaning in delivering messages. Writing is a form of communication in a language, conveyed in natural form or in writing related to all the feelings or expressions of a writer. It is hoped that this article will be able to provide a different understanding of the message conveyed. In the opinion of Hyland “Writing is a social act that occurs within a particular situation. It is therefore influenced both by the personal attitudes and prior experiences that the writer brings to writing and the impact of the specific political and institutional contexts in which it takes place”.²⁴ This means that, writing is an activity of conveying information carried out in a particular situation. Writing activities aim as an expression or message aimed at the reader. It is hoped that the reader will understand more about a particular condition, and it is also related to the feelings that are being experienced or the person's life experience.

Writing activity is a learning process that requires various aspects in order to create an appropriate writing. Based on the Westwood, “Writing is a complex skill involving multiple processes and abilities that problems can arise for some students”.²⁵ In other words in learning, writing activities involve various aspects. Writing activities require to be the ability to develop or convey ideas related to a predetermined topic. And also writing is a delivery of messages to the readers associated with the written work. Not only are activities carried out in tangible form on a paper, but a writer must also be able to provide creative ideas related to the topics discussed and attract interest so that an article can become a helpful reading for someone. Said by Zakaria “Writing is rooted in ideas and words, and written communication refers to handwriting and spelling idioms' mental and physical abilities, through the investigator point of view, writing is the process of writing words into an essay”.²⁶ It does mean that, writing is a process of assembling information from words into an paragraph or essay. It is intended to provide a more complex reading with a more organized writing system such as what will be conveyed, information related to the main topic, and better systematic. Thus learning to write a reading text must be followed by the correct procedure so that the sentence is easy to understand. In brief, writing is a complex learning process that involves various aspects. As well as the delivery of information into a paragraph.

Writing is a skill in the learning that requires thinking and feeling. In accordance with Fitriani “Writing is one of productive skills and an activity in which someone can convey some information and express his/her feelings and thoughts to the readers in written language”.²⁷ One of the writing skills that a person has is a skill that can be arranged in an orderly manner by expressing all feelings or things related to the specified topic. Writing activities can also be said as a form of communication with other people about everything experienced by the author. Writing is an endeavor to convey the writer's thoughts, feelings, or ideas in written form while taking into account writing features and phases so that the readers may understand them clearly.²⁸ As stated by Nur “Writing is an activity to share ideas, feeling, and thought into written form that is meaningful not only for the writer but also for the reader”.²⁹ Citraresmana said that “Writing is one of the language skills; through writing, we can observe one’s language ability. It is believed that writing is a kind of reflection of the writer’s cognition since that writing will represent the writer him or herself. Through writing students’ can deliver their idea and expression”.³⁰ Therefore, Writing can provide information to others related to an important event or situation that someone is currently experiencing.

Corresponding to definition about writing above, it can be concluded that writing is an activity carried out by combining the word for word to make a composed paragraph, which aims to provide information to other people. Writing provides its own space in conveying ideas and ideas, which will later produce perfect writing and provide a lot of information to others.

b. Writing Ability

A person's ability can be used as a process which in the end becomes an easy habit, which can produce a work. The level of a person's ability can be assessed if in a process the activity can provide information to others. The ability to write is a complex skill that involves all aspects of its activities. The ability to write requires that one must understand the rules of writing, starting from giving opinions and being able to string words that must be used according to predetermined topics. Birhan said "Writing is one of the most significant skills in students' academic context and it requires systematic instruction and mastery learning experiences".³¹ This indicates that, writing is one of the activities for students who have significant abilities in the learning process. Writing activities require learning experiences and writing skills, which require that they be able to understand the appropriate writing context. As claimed by Suriansih "Writing ability is the skill to express ideas, thoughts, and feelings to other people in written symbols to make other people or readers understand the ideas conveyed".³² It can be stated that writing ability is one of a person's complex abilities. With the ability to write, a person can convey thoughts, opinions, and ideas based on the combination of words and sentences to do difficult writing and provide information to someone. Writing and ability are regarded as one activity which cannot be separated, and each program is depending on the progress of delivering ideas.

³¹ Birhan, A.T, "Effects of Mastery Learning Instruction on Engineering Students' Writing Skills Development and Motivation", Journal of Language and Education 4, no. 4 (2018): 20-30, <https://doi.org/10.17323/2411-7390-2018-4-4-20-30>

³² Meili Suriansih, "The Correlation Among the Students' Writing Motivation, Writing Anxiety And Writing Ability at SMP Ahmad Dahlan Kota Jambi" (Thesis, The State Islamic University Sulthan Thaha Saifudin Jambi, 2020), 9.

In other words, writing ability is an ability to deliver the ideas in written materials.³³ A person's ability has the character that makes it a skill of interest. And writing ability is one of the abilities possessed by someone with complex skills, by applying ideas that need to be developed to become writing that readers easily understand.

Proceeding from definition of writing ability above, it can be concluded that writing is one of a person's unique abilities. Writing activities that have become a separate will for someone will make it easier for people who do writing activities to find it easier to carry out. The ability to write is one of the complex abilities that a person has because writing activities not only develop one's ideas but also must be able to develop a predetermined topic.

In a learning process, students experience many problem and obstacles, especially in learning to write in English. Many students found it hard to start writing especially in a foreign language.³⁴ First, some students were not interested in it. Second, they had difficulties starting writing.³⁵ And then some students had a lack of vocabulary. And the last some students had difficulty in finding and expressing the ideas.³⁶ It implies that, writing is not an activity that many people enjoy. Many things make writing activities difficult to do because of the difficulties experienced in the writing process. Especially for students in writing activities in English, it is known that English is a foreign language in Indonesia and is applied in the learning system. With all the difficulties experienced in writing, such as difficulty in developing ideas, not mastering a lot of vocabulary, grammar problems, and lack of interest in writing among students themselves. This makes it difficult for students to learn to write.

c. Aspect of Writing

To make a good writing there are some criteria. Based on the Heaton there are five aspect to make a good writing, such as:

1. Content (the ability to think creatively and develop thoughts)

The content section usually contains main ideas related to the topic, such as the development of ideas, facts, illustrations, and matters relating to a predetermined topic. In the content section, it is usually determined related to the things to be discussed. In this section, supporting sentences related to the topic will be needed in order to provide more information from the topic discussed.

2. Organization (the ability to write in appropriate manner)

Writing activities are carried out in an organized manner. Organized writing will give value to a piece of writing, which will later be easier to read and understand. Starting from a precise sequence of stories, supporting ideas, and logically sequential stories. Every writing definitely requires writing rules that are regular, clear, related to the intent and purpose of the writing. In each type of writing, the topic to be discussed will be determined as well as supporting sentences related to the topic. This is so that the information submitted is appropriate and does not cause errors.

3. Vocabulary (the ability to use of word/idiom)

Writing is a series of words by word to make a paragraph. For a writer, he must master a lot of vocabulary, which will make it easier to develop a more expansive and quality writing in a reading. Vocabulary is one of the important aspects in conveying information, especially writing. The choice of vocabulary in writing must be precise, aiming to provide an explanation that is easier for someone to understand. The words chosen must be in accordance with the topics discussed and the choice of words placed in the desired type of writing, such as formal and non-formal writing.

4. Language use (the ability to write appropriate structure)

The use of excellent and structured language will provide perfect writing and provide good quality and easy to understand by people who read it. In the aspect of language use important as anything else, the use of appropriate language will provide its own convenience for someone. If the use of language is not in accordance with the rules of writing, it will give a misunderstanding of the writing made. Therefore, the use of language in carrying out writing activities must be appropriate, in order to provide a clearer understanding of the topic of discussion.

5. Mechanics (the ability to use punctuation, capitalization, spelling and layout correctly).³⁷

Usually, the mechanic's section involves reasonably complex writing elements such as spelling, punctuation, capitalization, and the paragraphs used. For someone who does not understand the rules in writing, they will assume that mechanics are writing rules that are not too important. However, someone who understands mechanics in writing activities will be made a mistake or the main point in order to create a writing that is easier to understand. The use of periods, commas, capital letters and so on will give its own meaning to the resulting writing.

In keeping with explanation above, producing perfect writing requires several aspects that are used to do better writing. Creative thinking aims to create unique and helpful writing. The proper organizational structure will be used as one of the aspects needed in writing activities, with a complete organizational structure and ease in writing and the results of writing that can be useful for others. The selection of the appropriate vocabulary in a sentence will determine the effectiveness of a written work. Easily understood, and the selection of simple vocabulary will produce perfect writing. The type of language used in writing must be adapted to the kind of writing is made. Paying attention to the language used following the portion will give value to a piece of writing. So that writers can adapt to the type of writing that is carried out. And the last is mechanics, a writing system that is perfect, neat, and pays attention to the elements in a piece of writing, which will provide tidiness starting from the form of writing and appearance.

d. Process of Writing

In writing activities, several processes must be carried out so that the resulting writing can provide appropriate information and is also easy to understand. This writing process aims to make it easier for someone who is just starting writing activities to understand and make writing easier. Some processes in writing have their functions to produce perfect writing. And there are some process of writing, to make good writing such as:

1. Planning

When planning, writers have to think about three main issues. In the first place they have to consider the purpose of their writing since this will influence (amongst other things) not only the type of text they wish to produce, but also the language they use, and the information they choose to include. Secondly, experienced writers think of the audience they are writing for, since this will influence not only the shape of the writing (how it is laid out, how the paragraphs are structured, etc.), but also the choice of language whether, for example, it is formal or informal in tone. Thirdly, writers have to consider the content structure of the piece - that is, how best to sequence the facts, ideas, or arguments which they have decided to include.

2. Drafting

We can refer to the first version of a piece of writing as a draft. This first 'go' at a text is often done on the assumption that it will be amended later. As the writing process proceeds into editing, a number of drafts may be produced on the way to the final version.

3. Editing (reflecting and revising)

Once writers have produced a draft they then, usually, read through what they have written to see where it works and where it doesn't. Perhaps the order of the information not clear. Perhaps the way something is written is ambiguous or confusing. They may then move paragraphs around or write a new introduction. They may use a different form of words for a particular sentence.

4. Final version

Once writers have edited their draft, making the changes they consider to be necessary, they produce their final version. This may look considerably different from both the original plan and the first draft, because things have changed in the editing process. But the writer is now ready to send the written text to its intended audience.³⁸

Referring to explanation about the process of writing above, it can be concluded that an activity must have a plan before carrying out. Likewise, writing activities need to be considered in writing activities, especially for writing a paragraph or essay that requires a particular elaboration in the content of the writing. The first process is planning, which is writing activities to describe a topic. One must have the correct planning about what things will be written in the text. Second, drafting is another crucial thing in the writing process. In writing activities, it is necessary to have drafted in considering the chosen word for word so that it has the correct meaning and is under the main topic. The topic in an article must have a clear picture of the article's content and the purpose of the topic idea in the article; this is done so that someone who reads the article can understand it easily. Third, in an editing process, it is necessary to find out whether the resulting work has perfect results. We can provide a preliminary analysis of the writing system with the editing process, both from the words used in the writing process and the incorrect structure. And the fourth final result is the result of perfect writing that has gone through the previous writing process by considering various aspects and the writing process and following the writing rules.

2. Descriptive Text

a. Definition of Descriptive Text

Descriptive text is one type of the text in English which aims to convey more detailed information about the topic. In the opinion of Husna “Descriptive text is a text by which a writer tries to picture what he is describing. Description is used to describe a particular thing/object, place, or person”.³⁹ In others words, descriptive text is one type of text that explains or describes a particular object. In terms of things that can be explained in this text, various types of objects can be described, such as people, objects, places, and different other objects. Descriptive text is to expose something, describe the object more influentially and emotionally, shape the imagination of the reader, and explain the object following the characteristics and traits.⁴⁰ As meaning that, complete and basic description is part of the descriptive text in explaining something or describing a particular object.

Descriptive text is a kind of texts which is used to describe the real object (person, place, and things). It will help the reader more understand clearly about the real object. Then descriptive text consists of identification and description. Identification is a process of how to an object that wants to describe. Then, the description is a process on how to describe the object.⁴¹ This means that, an explanation in written form of an object that is fundamentally and has detailed information is part of a descriptive text, which provides a description that is easy to understand by someone who reads it.

Descriptive text describing an object person, animals, thing, and place with clear and detailed explanation. In this case, the readers can visualize an object described. Therefore, the writers will create their feeling and get a clear view of the object described, and the reader can imagine, feel, and have an overview of the subject being read. Furthermore, description activity describes an object to make the readers understand about the object described.⁴² It implies that, various types of texts have specific criteria that make a central point of the text. Delivery of messages of the kind of descriptive text provides information on all objects in detail. So that it can be interpreted that all the information contained in the descriptive text offers its understanding for the person who reads it. Concerning a particular object, the author will create all feelings to make the reader get a clear picture of the described thing. The author can create a sense that makes people who read the text feel, imagine and understand the object being read.

By virtue of definition about descriptive text above, it can be concluded that descriptive text is one type of the text with the intent and purpose of explaining an object to others. The descriptive text explains the topic being discussed to provide a more detailed and detailed understanding of the topic being discussed. The sentences and language used in writing descriptive text are straight forward and can be easily understood by someone. Writing descriptive text types makes someone can explain and understand more easily.

b. Generic Structure of Descriptive Text

Each type of text must have a generic structure which is the format for writing the text to be used. And the descriptive text has its own writing element that can make a text according to the writing rules. In the opinion of Ngurah, "English descriptive text consists of two generic structures: identification and description".

⁴² Dewi Purnamasari et al, " An Analysis of Students' Writing Skill on English Descriptive Text," English Education: Jurnal Tadris Bahasa Inggris 14, no.1 (2021): 101-114, <https://doi.org/10.24042/ee-jtbi.v14i1.7943>

1. Identification

Identification consists of introducing the general description of the topic and the special characteristics of the animal described. The identification consists of the illustration of physical features, explanation of animal, explanation of interesting facts description properties. In identification, the students can identify the subject. In this part, the learner introduces the subject.

Example :

The Catfish

My favorite dish fish is catfish. Catfish elongated shape, with a slippery body. It has no scales and has a mustache. In generally, have a blackness or grey color.

In the example the identification section above describes the bicycle as a topic to be discussed.

2. Description

In a description, the students can describe a particular part, characteristics, and qualities of the object. Besides that, the students should involve the language features in writing descriptive text. Such as a grammatical function, vocabulary, and mechanics”.⁴³ It means that writing descriptive text has a simple generic structure that can provide complex explanations.

Example :

The Catfish

The catfish is one type of freshwater fish consumption. Does not have many bones, with a distinctive taste making catfish popular with many people. Catfish are very easy to process into dishes, and many dishes with catfish menu can be found in restaurant. It can be fried, grill and many other types of menu catfish dishes.

⁴³ Putu Ngurah Rusmawan, “ Genre Based Approach to Teach Writing Descriptive Text,” Journal of English Educators Society 2, no.2 (2017): 119-134, <https://doi.org/10.21070/jees.v2i2.875>

In this section, explain the parts contained in the bicycle as a supporting sentence of the topic discussed.

It can be conclude that, identification section an initial explanation related to the topic of discussion, such as a brief and basic explanation that makes a central feature of the topic. In description explain in a complex manner related to the topics discussed. The description section provides an explanation of supporting sentences, which makes writing more complex related to information and matters relating to a predetermined topic.

c. Language Features of Descriptive Text

The language element in each type of text has differences from one another. In this type of descriptive text, language features are used, which are related to conveying information that is simple and easier to understand by many people. The grammatical features of descriptive text focus on Language features (simple present tense, action verb and adjective), vocabulary and mechanics.⁴⁴

1. Language Features (simple present tense, action verb, and adjective)

The language features of descriptive text are use of simple present tense because it tells the object description, use of the adjective to clarify the noun. Adjective are words that modify a nun or pronoun. It is to give more information so that the writer's meaning is clear to the reader.

2. Vocabulary

Vocabulary is important in writing English descriptive text. It can be said as necessity to be known by students in Junior high school. A writer can make readers explore more deeply in what is telling about. In fact, it is always become a big problem in learning English. Students are still difficult in writing text because they have less of vocabulary. So, they cannot convey their ideas related to topic clearly as they would have to.

3. Mechanics

The mechanic concerns about the writers' ability to use correctly those conventions peculiar to the written language such as punctuation and spelling.⁴⁵ Punctuation and spelling are important in writing to help readers understand the writer's ideas. In learning English, both of them are accurately presented and learned. Using punctuation brings clarity to writing and makes it comprehensive. While spelling means the word looks like if misspelled, the word's meaning can be different.

Conforming to explanation above, it can be concluded that writing descriptive text has language features that are the basis for writing it. The use of simple present tense, action verbs, and adjectives aims to make the language easy to understand and have a simpler understanding that more people can understand.

d. Example of Descriptive Text

Based on the explanation and the generic structure described above, the following is an example of a descriptive text about a person accompanied by a generic structure.

⁴⁵ J.B Heaton, Op.Cit, 148.

My Father's Sheep

(Identification)

My father has a sheeps. The sheeps have four legs. And two long ears with the two sharp's horns. The sheep have several feathers color like white, black, brown and mixed colors.

The sheeps is a herbivore animals. Eating grass and green leaves. It also can produces a milk, but in certain types of it. Sheeps become livestock animals for many people, because they are easy to maintain. There is even a television cartoon depicting this animals, namely Shaun The Sheep.

The example of descriptive text above, it explains the identification and description. Explain about people, complete with supporting sentences and part of descriptive text such as generic structure identificaion and description. In the f identification explain about the name of the people as the main topic. And the part of description explains that things related with the main topic.

3. Flower Writing Strategy

a. Definition of Flower Writing Strategy

Flower writing strategy is one of the strategies in the learning process. Added by Burton "Flower writing is a writing strategy that involves writing down the central idea supported by the details around that have connection to make a complete paragraph".⁴⁶ This would means that, flower writing strategy is a strategy in learning by applying more fun activities in a written form that requires students to convey information related to the topic and then equipped with supporting sentences written in a flower-shaped framework to make the explanation more complex. David said, “Flower writing is a writing strategy to create the creativity and sense of students in taking a writing section by finding the main ideas from the text and determine the supporting details that is related to the topic aimed to construct a good paragraph.”⁴⁷ This implies that, flower writing strategy is one of the strategies in implementing writing activities that aims to provide a more active and fun atmosphere in an appropriate form of writing, which is equipped with core sentences and supporting sentences so that it makes a good text.

Therefore, the flower writing strategy is expected to provide improvements in the learning process, because using this strategy can provide creativity for both students in learning. According to Yuliana “Flower writing strategy is supposed to serve as a guide for students in constructing a text or essay using the steps and points outlined in the strategy. It is reasonable to expect that students' writing skills will develop as a result of this strategy.”⁴⁸ It can be concluded that, in learning process especially writing, it is expected that students can develop ideas related to the perfectly determined topic so that a strategy is needed that can provide effective learning. With the flower writing strategy, students are expected to write more effectively by considering the main points and complementary sentences of the topic and written in a structured way in the floral outline, which is arranged as a whole into a good paragraph.

Another definitions about flower writing strategy, Burman said “this strategy can help the students in making a paragraph without getting in trouble. In other words, the students were able to develop a topic and work individually to find the main idea and supporting details to make a good paragraph”.⁴⁹ It means that, flower writing strategy can make it easier for students in writing learning activities. Developing ideas and choosing supporting sentences can be done more efficiently and provide creativity for students to write according to the flower graph.

By virtue of definition about flower writing strategy above, it can be conclude that flower writing strategy is a type of learning strategy used to provide a separate evaluation, to give students freedom and creativity, so that they can develop ideas through writing. Applying the flower writing strategy to learning, it will provide students with independence and also give students responsibility to be able to complete the written results that have been determined. The following is an example of the learning process by using the flower writing strategy, which applies using pictures in the form of a framework of the flower for the learning process.

⁴⁹ Riski Darman, “Teaching Writing By Combining Journalist Questions And Flower Strategies At Junior High School,” (Padang, STKIP PGRI, 2014), 6.

Figure 2.1 Framework of Flower Writing Strategy

The picture above explains the use of writing using a the framework of the flower. The framework of the flower is divided into several parts such as the flower core, which will later be written about the main topic of the theme to be discussed. Then it is equipped with flower petals, which contain supporting sentences related to the topics discussed. And then, after completing writing the main topic and also supporting sentences, arrange them into a perfect paragraph that involves elements in a writing.

b. Procedure of Flower Writing Strategy

In the learning process by using flower writing strategy, there are several usage procedures that must be considered. Even though it looks easy by using a flower-shaped outline, you must still pay attention to a clear writing procedure. The following is the procedure of teaching with flower writing strategy students must:

1. Introducing flower writing strategy before beginning the lesson. It is aimed to make the students understand how to use this strategy.
2. Selecting the main idea/topic that will be discussed. The students choose the certain topic in the middle of the strategy.
3. Finding the supporting details which are related to the topic. After finding the topic/main idea students are asked to find the supporting detail and put it around the strategy chart.
4. Constructing the paragraph by combining the topic and detail to be an essay. Students ask to write down the sentence into paragraph.⁵⁰

On the basis of procedure of flower writing strategy above, the researcher conclude there are several steps in the learning using this strategy. First, students are explained about the flower writing strategy, related to how to use this strategy. After understanding how to use it, students are given a framework image of the flower writing strategy that the teacher has provided. Second, after understanding part of the flower writing strategy chart, the teacher given the some topic about animals and the students choose one of the topic and write down the main topic at the middle of the flower. Third, After determining the main topic to discuss, write a supporting sentence about the main topic discussed. And then written on the flower petal graphic section. Fthe last, after writing the complete supporting sentences on the next flower petal, arrange the main ideas into a paragraph.

The following is examples of learning process by applying flower writing strategy by using picture of the framework of the flower. It is expected to provide more effective and fun learning. So that it can make it easier for students to develop ideas in writing and providing information.

The Pigeon

(Identification)

I have a pigeon. It has a grey feathers. My pigeon has a stocky body with a short neck. It has two shorts legs, and two wings to fly with long tail.

Taking care a pigeon is almost the same as caring for an animal in general. My pigeon eating whole grains, like a corn. Not only pets but also pigeon can be a competition. Become a winner in a competition , and even an national competition.

The picture above is an example of learning process by using using flower writing straegy with the framework of the flower. In this example, the main topic “My Pet” is written in the center of the flower. And then, it is also included with supporting sentences related to the topic and written on the flower petals. After all the main topics and supporting sentences have been written, the final part is written into a perfect paragraph. Become a descriptive text by paying attention to generic structures such as identification and description sections.

c. Advantages of Flower Writing Strategy

Each in the learning by using the strategy have the advantages and disadvantages in learning. And here are some of the advantages of applying flower writing strategies in the learning process.

1. To help students explain their thought processes and creativity to support logical arguments in making complete paragraph.
2. Make the students creative and easy to explore and write their ideas.
3. Help the students to explore, organize, and develop their ideas about the topic. The students get easy to follow the steps in developing their ideas in order the writing activity can be effective.⁵¹

With reference to explanation about the advantages of the flower writing strategy above, it can be concluded that the advantages of using flower writing strategy will provide convenience and creativity for students. Students will be able to develop ideas more actively and follow the pattern according to the flower arrangement that has been adjusted. The unique strategy provided will provide convenience in conveying more pleasant ideas.

⁵¹ Monica, "Teaching Writing by Combining Looping and Flower Writing Strategies for Junior High School", (Padang, STKIP PGRI Sumatera Barat, 2014). 5.

d. Disadvantages of Flower Writing Strategy

There are some disadvantages of using flower writing strategies in the learning process, such as:

1. Preparation that needs to use media must be provided by the teacher.
2. The limited size of the flowers framework for writing at the middle and the petals.

Grounded on the explanation above, the use of flower writing strategy only has two disadvantages compared to other strategies. With the preparation that must be provide by the teacher before learning, make it this strategy still rarely used. And the shape and size must be adjusted by the paper allow the writing activity to use this strategy to limited.

4. Groupwork Strategies

a. Definition of Groupwork Strategies

Groupwork is one of the strategy in the learning process, that used in writing learning activities. As claimed by Elizabeth “groupwork is a strategies that students working together in a group small enough so that everyone can participate on a clearly assigned learning task”.⁵² It menas that, learning process using group work strategies, students can interact with each other and give each the ideas related to the topics. Monica say that, “group work is defined as more than one person working together to complete a task or assignment. The goal of group work is to get students to interact with each other and collaborate to complete a task or assignment”.⁵³ This indicate that, the use of group work strategies in learning can provide convenience to students who have difficulty. By using this strategy, students can exchange ideas and can complete assignments more effectively, precisely and quickly.

Group work is one of teaching strategies available to teachers attempting to make their teaching more effective”.⁵⁴ It can be stated, the use of appropriate strategies in learning process it can provide active and effective learning. Learning using group work strategies, students can interact with each other and give each the ideas related to the topics. By using a groupwork strategies, it can provide convenience for students in learning English, with the aim of being able to interact with each other and maintain cohesiveness, as well as being able to ask questions and complement each other for fellow group members.

b. Procedure of Groupwork Strategies

In the learning using groupwork strategies, there are several procedure in their use, it aims to provide easier explanations to apply in the learning process, such as:

1. Explain to students what they are going to do and when they will have finished the task.
2. After that, teachers give the instruction to students for the topic what they want to choose as a main topic.
3. Provide opportunities for students to be able to perform each others duties and share information with the group members.
4. After completing writing the topic related information, students are given the opportunity to re-check the group's work
5. Students collect assignments and teachers pass

⁵⁴ Gelis, T and Yayna, K.T, “Research on Group Work and Collaborative Work and Its Implications for Primary School Teachers, Applied Linguistic, 5, no.2 (2004) : 27-34 <https://dergipark.org.tr/tr/download/article-file/1336961> judgments.

From explanation above, it can be conclude that, in learning by using groupwork has several steps that must be applied, wich aim to make learning easy to understand by students. First, the students were divided into several groups, in one group consisted of 2 until 5 students. Second, discuss the topics that will be selected to be discussed in more detail. Third, the members are given the task of finding information related to the topics discussed. Fourth, combine the overall information obtained into a paragraph. Fifth, check the results of the tasks that have been made by giving each other feedback and exchanging information with other members to be able to check the results of the tasks.

c. Advantages of Groupwork Strategies

There are some advantages o using groupwork strategies, such as :

1. Like pairwork, it dramatically increases the number of talking opportunities for individual students.
2. Unlike pairwork, because there are more than two people in the group, personal relationships are usually less problematic; there is also a greater chance of different opinions and varied contributions than in pairwork.
3. It encourages broader skills of cooperation and negotiation than pairwork, and yet is more private than work in front of the whole class.
4. It promotes learner autonomy by allowing students to make their own decisions in the group without being told what to do by the teacher.
5. Although we do not wish any individuals in groups to be completely passive, nevertheless some students can choose their level of participation more readily than in a whole-class or pairwork situation.⁵⁵

It can be concluded that, the use of group work strategies in learning has several advantages including, fellow students can share information about learning topics. Provide opportunities for members to be able to express ideas related to the topics. And the last, provide intimacy among students who may rarely communicate with each other.

d. Disadvantages of Groupwork Strategies

Addition to the advantages that have been explained before, groupwork strategies also have some disadvantages, such as:

1. It is likely to be noisy (though not necessarily as loud as pairwork can be). Some teachers feel that they lose control, and the whole-class feeling which has been painstakingly built up may dissipate when the class is split into smaller entities;
2. Not all students enjoy it since they would prefer to be the focus of the teacher's attention rather than working with their peers. Sometimes students find themselves in uncongenial groups and wish they could be somewhere else;
3. Individuals may fall into group roles that become fossilized, so that some are passive whereas others may dominate; and
4. Groups can take longer to organize than pairs; beginning and ending groupwork activities, especially where people move around the class, can take time and be chaotic.⁵⁶

On basis of the explanation above, it can be concluded that, not all the advantages that have been described can be approved in the use of this strategy. Some of the disadvantages in using this strategy such as, the classroom atmosphere is very noisy, out of control from the combination of several students who are difficult to give instructions. Furthermore, many of the several groups consisting of students gave orders to each other without any cooperation in completing the task. And finally, there are some students who feel they can do it individually without the need for other students. This is what makes some students less interested if learning uses groupwork.

⁵⁵ Jeremy Harmer, The Practice of English Language Teaching (Pearson Education, 2007), 165

B. Hypothesis

Based on the theories and explanation above, the research makes the hypothesis as follow :

H_a : There is a significant influence of using flower writing strategy towards students' writing ability in descriptive text.

H_0 : There is no significant influence of using flower writing strategy towards students' writing ability in descriptive text.
